ATTORNEY SLAIN; QUIZ WOMAN

F. D. R., DESPITE ANTI-WAR TIDE, PUSHES FOR AEF

Studies with Cabinet on Possible Steps.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 6.—Undeterred by the prevailing popular sentiment against engaging in an overseas war, President Roosevelt is pushing preparations for American expeditionary forces available for use either in Europe or Asia or both.

Possible war measures against not only Germany and Italy but Japan are the subject, of consideration by the President's war cabinet. They include the use of the American navy to convoy arms cargoes to England and the British forces in the near east and to hunt down and destroy German submarines, surface raiders, and bombing planes in the Atlantic.

Army of 3 Million Planned.

They include the training and equipment of an army of not less than 3 million men that will be available to land in Europe eventually and fight its way to Berlin, if necessary, to enable Great Britain to defeat Hitler. They include the use of the American navy to check further Japanese aggressions in the far east.

At the moment the President is proceeding cautiously in view of public sentiment adverse to his contemplated war program and of the warnings in congress by leaders of his own party that he should not take the country into an undeclared war without the express approval of that body, which alone is vested by the constitution with the power to declare war.

Faces Congress Opposition.

The indications are that he will bow, for the time being at least, to the storm of opposition stirred in congress by the measure to pave the way for an expeditionary force to Europe. This is the purport of the recommendation by Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, that the restriction on the employment of troops to the western hemisphere be repealed, as well as the limitation to one year of the service of draftees and National Guard troops.

The President is not likely to espouse the Marshall recommendation unless advised by his lieutenants on Capitol hill of a softening of the opposition sufficient to assure passage of the measure. In the meantime, however, the administration will proceed with plans to raise and equip a 3 million man expeditionary force.

Island Seizures Envisioned.

The administration's war plans also include the possible seizure of the Portuguese Azores and Cape Verde Islands and French Dakar on the western bulge of Africa, as well as the possible occupation of Iceland in substitution for the British troops now guarding that island. These potential objectives provided the immediate reason for the proposal to repeal the restriction on service of American troops to this hemisphere.

Current administration conferences are devoting much consideration to measures to be adopted against Japan if Tokio should essay any aggressive move toward British Singapore and the Dutch East Indies on the south or toward Russia to the north. Mr. Roosevelt has espoused the Russian cause but might collide with Japan if he were to attempt to send cargoes of supplies to Vladivostok.

Philippine Forces Boosted.

The President for some time has been strengthening American air forces in the Philippines. If the Japanese were to move against Singapore and the Dutch East Indies they would be threatened by the American air force with severance of their communications.

The United States could cripple Japan at any time by shutting off the export of oil and other war necessities to that country. Many critics of the administration dwell on the inconsistency of expending millions of dollars to aid China while continuing to supply Japan with the oil and other means of fighting China. The administration explanation is that if we should shut off oil exports to Japan, we would only precipitate a Japanese attack on the Dutch East Indies to gain the vast oil resources of that region. That would mean a war in the far east in which Mr. Roosevelt, by his consultations and collaborations with the British in that region, has indicated his intention to take a hand.

SOVIETS STRIKE BACK AT NAZIS IN 3 SECTORS

Claim Heavy Losses Weaken Germans.

MOSCOW, July 7 [Monday] (AP).—Red army counterattacks have thrown on the defensive some German blitzkrieg columns driving for Moscow and Leningrad and all Nazi attempts to cross the vital Dnieper river on the Stalin line have failed, it was announced here early today.

Heavy black line locates present battle fronts.

The soviet communique on fighting yesterday and last night indicated the Germans had not gained in their pushes in the Baltic states and in White Russia, altho heavy fighting was in progress all along the jagged arctic to Black sea front.

The Red army reported on Sunday that it had taken the initiative against German troops, which it said were weakened by heavy losses. A communique early today indicated the soviets were pressing their counterattacks on wide fronts.

300 Nazi Tanks Destroyed.

Many mechanized units were involved in the fighting and the Russians told of one battle in the continuing action in which 300 German tanks were destroyed, 12 long range guns, and 500 prisoners captured.

In the Ostrov sector, 175 miles southwest of Leningrad and near the Latvian frontier, the Russians said "energetic" counterattacks "resulted in heavy losses to the enemy."

Bitter fighting raged in the area of Disna, on the Dvina river 25 miles west of Polotsk while in the Lepel sector of White Russia big tank battles developed which forced mechanized German troops on the defensive.

The Russians also reported taking the offensive in the Borizov area against German mechanized units. Borizov is on the Berezina river 50 miles east of Minsk and 375 miles west of Moscow.

Repel Attempts at River.

Farther down the front, in the Bobruisk sector, the Red army "repelled numerous enemy attempts to cross the Dnieper river." [Bobruisk is on the Berezina and the Dnieper is farther east.] "The enemy suffered heavy losses in battles which took place in this sector."

German mechanized units delivered several attacks in the Novograd Volynski area of the Ukraine in their push to reach Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, but the soviets declared their stubbornly resisting troops "are holding the enemy."

Fighting is in progress in the Bessarabian sector, with the Red army opposing enemy infantry and panzer [armored] units attacking in the direction of Balti.

Thousands of Dead.

With details purposely vague, the Russians said the bodies of several thousand German troops littered the battlefield and many more perished in the river "in one sector."

First, panzer divisions attacked and reached the river. The Russians made counterthrusts to wear out the enemy, blew up a bridge and took up new defensive positions. The Germans then concentrated forces and began artillery preparation for a crossing. Soviet batteries replied and the duel lasted for several hours.

Russian aircraft halted two attempts to cross and the south bank of the river was strewn with bodies. German reserves came up and succeeded in crossing altho the Russians said only at the cost of tremendous sacrifices.

Guerrilla Forces Active.

The units of a Red division then unleashed a bayonet charge and flung the Germans back to their side of the river. The Russians also said that an important guerrilla movement was operating in the rear of the German armies.

Preliminary reports showed the Russian air force destroyed 28 enemy air planes with a loss of eight soviet aircraft on Saturday. On Friday the figures were 61 German and 29 soviet planes downed.

U. S. War Entry Big Question as British Ask: Can We Win?

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 6.—Foreign Minister Anthony Eden's declaration yesterday that the new order in Europe will be shaped in London, and what is reported here as successful resistance in Russia, brought two questions to the fore in London today. They are: How can England hope to win? What kind of peace will London impose? There still was no clear cut answer to either.

Three factors were involved in the victory hopes:

1. Active American intervention.
2. Russia's ability to wear down the German war machine.
3. Intensification of production and direct air, sea, and possibly land operations on the continent.

Disappointed in Roosevelt.

Altho disappointment continues to be expressed regarding President Roosevelt's Fourth of July speech, Washington correspondents of British newspapers seek to explain the President's delay in taking a more active part in the war by reporting that this is due to his sense of timing.

It is not doubted here that in urging immediate American participation in the war, Secretaries Knox and Ickes and other Washington spokesmen are reflecting the President's opinion as to what should be done, but, the British are told, this must wait until American opinion is ripe for such action. Meanwhile, the public is informed that the interventionists rapidly are gaining ground in America.

Mr. Roosevelt's unexpected summoning of his foreign policy advisers Saturday after his return from a vacation is "regarded in Washington as a forerunner of far reaching developments in America's undeclared war on Hitler," the Sunday Express correspondent assures the British.

Must Prepare for Offensive.

The Evening Standard estimated that Hitler hopes to conquer Russia in 70 days. During that time, it says, England must redouble production of tanks and airplanes, speed up organization, equipment, and training of a powerful British war machine and be prepared for both a large scale defensive and offensive action if fullest advantage is to be taken of the assistance Russia now is giving the allied cause.

John Gordon, editor of The Sunday Express, complains that "on the day that Hitler walked into Russia we were told with a loud hurrah, 'Now we have him fighting on two fronts and he won't like that.'"

"Russia now has been at war for a fortnight," he continues. "Where is the second front?"

Gordon's editorial says Britain could deal Germany a smashing blow today if she "set her on fire from end to end, her cities, her crops, her forests."

The editor warns against talking about the type of peace Britain is planning, saying that "unless we stir ourselves up to some real energy there may be no Britain to replan; that is unless Russia pulls us thru."

Concede Power in New Order.

Regarding the new order Britain proposes to establish in Europe, there are many suggestions and some agreement, but only one thing seems certain—no one wants a revival of the old order.

"The division of Europe into a checkerboard of independent and isolated units has ceased to work," editorializes the London Times. . . . "The charge against Hitler's new order is not that it made a large part of the continent into a single economic unit, but that it has created this unit on a basis, not of free and equal coöperation, but for exploitation in the interest and for the military purposes of a single country. That some new order is an essential condition for future peace and prosperity in Europe few will now be found to contest."

NOTHING SECRET

In a speech at Cleveland last Nov. 2, three days before his re-election, President Roosevelt said:

"There is nothing secret about our foreign policy. . . . I have stated it many times before, not only in words, but in action. I now restate it.

"The first purpose of our foreign policy is to keep our country out of war. At the same time we seek to keep foreign conceptions of government out of the United States.

"The second purpose of this policy is to keep war as far away as possible from the shores of the entire western hemisphere."

Britain Asks War Plants for Loan of 20,000 Miners

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 6.—Britain, which before the war exported approximately 50,000,000 tons of coal a year, now is facing such a domestic shortage that Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin today appealed to employers in war industries "to lend him 20,000 miners for a brief period because of the coal position."

NEW DRAFT LIST PLAN REVEALED

July 1 Names Will Be Sandwiched In.

Washington, D. C., July 6 (AP).—Names of the newest draft registrants—the 21 year olds who were signed up July 1—will be mixed in with those of older men registered a year ago.

This was announced officially today by Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, deputy director of selective service, who said it had been decided to integrate the names of the new registrants instead of placing them in a single group either ahead of or behind the list of the men previously signed up.

Before local selective service boards can undertake the integration process, a new national draft lottery must be held in Washington. Officials indicated that it would be ordered for late this month.

Will Draw Sequence Numbers.

In the lottery the new registrants in each draft board area will learn their relationship to each other by having "sequence numbers" drawn.

Once the national numbers are drawn, local boards will compare them with their local numbers to determine local sequences. Thus one of the new registrants will be assigned the number "S 1." Another will have the number "S 2," and so forth.

How Plan Will Work.

The integration procedure may then be instituted. It will work out as follows:

Each draft area now has a reservoir of potential trainees between the ages of 21 thru 27 who were signed up last Oct. 16. This reservoir is composed of men who have not alrealy been drafted, rejected or deferred because of age or other reasons. The new registrants will be mixed in proportionately with these old ones.

[Selective service headquarters, anticipating enactment of legislation to that effect, directed recently that local boards defer calling men 28 years of age or older.]

For instance, assume that there are 100 of these old registrants and 10 new ones in a given board area. One new registrant then would be placed after each group of 10 old ones. The new registrant holding "S 1" would be placed after the first 10; the man holding "S 2," after the second 10, etc.

If the army then called on that particular board for six men and five of the first 10 old men were deferred, the group actually inducted, assuming all qualifications were met, would consist of the remaining five old registrants and one new one.

Banish Parole Board Secrecy in New Setup

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

The new Illinois parole board will give the fullest publicity to all of its actions and records, it was disclosed yesterday after a series of discussions among Gov. Green, T. P. Sullivan, director of the state department of public safety, and members of the board.

The board expects so to conduct itself that there will be nothing to hide and much to take credit for; hence the new publicity policy, Sullivan said.

The board, created under a law which became effective July 1, is composed of five men, each of whom heads a division of the state public safety department. The members are W. C. Jones, superintendent of paroles; Frank L. Whipp, superintendent of prisons; Milton H. Summers, superintendent of supervision of parolees; W. J. Smith Jr., superintendent of crime prevention, and Dr. Paul Schroeder, state criminologist. All are under Sullivan's jurisdiction.

Can Set Aside Sentences.

The board has power, by a vote of four members and the concurrence of Director Sullivan, to set aside the recommendations of the sentencing judge and impose a new minimum or maximum sentence upon any convict.

Sullivan expressed the view that such power would not be invoked very often. The policy of the Green administration is to coöperate with trial judge and prosecutor, he added.

The new parole program calls for parole board meetings to be held in Chicago. For many years past persons who either favored the granting of a parole or opposed it had to go to the particular prison housing the convict or appear before the parole board in Springfield. Inasmuch as half the convicts come from Chicago, the program calls for sessions in this city at which relatives, friends, or attorneys pleading for a convict may appear, and at which the victim of the crime or other objector may be heard.

2 PAROLEES SLAIN; 1 SHOT

Parolees figured heavily in the crime news of the last 24 hours. One was shot and killed by police after he had robbed three victims. Another parolee and a friend were mysteriously murdered in gangland fashion. A third parolee was wounded by police when he tried to avoid questioning.

Theodore Abromovitz, 29 years old, who was paroled from Joliet penitentiary last December, held up two gasoline stations and a garage on the northwest side, and then ran into an Albany Park police squad made up of Policemen William Peters, Wilbur Parker, and Harry Sprengel. A pursuit in which police guns blazed, ended at Pulaski road and Bryn Mawr avenue when Abromovitz fell dead from his car. Police said he was sentenced for robbery in 1928, paroled in 1931, and resentenced soon afterward for additional holdups.

Bodies Dropped from Auto.

Victims of the double murder were Frank Poblacki, 22, of 1012 North Ashland avenue, who was paroled from Joliet prison last year after a burglary sentence imposed in 1937, and Joseph Gogowski, 21 of 1308 North Hoyne avenue, a friend. A suspect was arrested for questioning last night.

The bodies were dumped from an automobile at Throop and Thomas streets. Each had been shot thru the heart. A witness told police that a man and a woman got out of the car, looked at one of the bodies, returned to the car, and drove away.

Woman Tells of Threat.

Police said that Miss Lillian Czarny, 19, of 2135 Potomac avenue, had visited taverns with Gogowski until 2 a. m. when he drove her home. She said he told her he had been threatened in a quarrel over a dice game. They were engaged, she said.

The parolee wounded was Stanley Kaminski, 24, of 4435 South Marshfield avenue, freed from Pontiac prison last December after serving nearly six years for robbery. He was shot in the leg by a police bullet near his home when he fled as Policemen James McCann, John McVeigh, and Edward Smurawski of the New City station tried to question him.

Life Belt, Bearing Name Like U.S. Ship, Washed Up

GLACE BAY, N. S., July 6 (AP).—A lifebelt bearing the name "Labette" was picked up on the table head shore near here today.

INDIANA STATE OFFICIAL SHOT, WIFE AT SIDE

Names Ex-Friend Before He Dies.

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

Bloomington, Ind., July 6.—A comely, black haired woman sat in the Monroe county jail here tonight, smoked innumerable cigarets and defiantly held her tongue.

Arrow locates town where slaying occurred.

Her name is Mrs. Caroline G. Payne, and around her hinges the solution to the death here last night of tall, suave Charles O. Mattingly of Indianapolis, chief legal examiner at $7,500 a year for the Public Service commission of Indiana.

Mattingly, 41, aloof and noted for his impeccable dress, was shot and killed about 10 o'clock last night as he sat sipping beer in the kitchen here of Gus Nickas, operator of the Indiana Sweet shop. He was shot five times in the back as he leaned against a window screen.

Companions Blame Firecrackers.

After the shots, he stood up. The other four persons present, including his wife, his former secretary whom he married secretly in May, 1940, laughed. They thought the shots were firecrackers set off by a Fourth of July prankster.

As Mattingly stood up, the teakettle on the stove hissed metallically. Drops of plaster fell from the ceiling. The guests—besides his wife, they were Mr. and Mrs. Nickas and their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Harry Nickas—looked around inquiringly and then in fright. The "firecrackers" had been bullets.

Mattingly then keeled over. As he fell, he said, "Well, she got me."

No guest had called an ambulance, but one suddenly was at the front door. Simultaneously, a taxi drew up at a filling station across the way.

Takes Dying Statement.

Mattingly was rushed to the hospital. Coroner R. A. Demotte and County Prosecutor Floyd E. Cook hastened to his bedside and arrived in time to take his dying statement.

"Do you know who shot you?" Demotte asked.

"Yes, I do," Mattingly replied. "It was Caroline Payne."

"Are you sure?" Demotte persisted.

"I am," he replied, "but I did not see her."

"Why?" Demotte continued. "Had she threatened to take your life on previous occasions?"

"Yes," the dying man said. "Many times."

Authorities Go to Home.

Apparently others in Bloomington had no doubt either. Long before Coroner Demotte returned with his statement, Chief of Police John D. Rawlins and Sheriff Earl M. Baxter had hurried unswervingly to the home of Mrs. Payne. In the words of Rawlins:

"And there she was, sitting in the window and smoking a cigaret. We said we were taking her in, and she said, 'All right, but I want to talk privately to my niece first.'"

In that private talk, the police later discovered, she gave her niece two diamond rings she was wearing and two Colt automatics, a loaded .32 caliber and a .38 caliber from which all but one shell had been fired.

"Destroy these guns," her niece said Mrs. Payne told her. The authorities took both guns.

The police also seized Mrs. Payne's purse. In it, neatly tied, they found a packet of more than 50 letters and seasonal greetings, dating from about 1927. Most of the letters were love letters. All were from Mattingly to Mrs. Payne. [Letters on page 9.]

Balks at Questioning.

When Prosecutor Cook attempted to question Mrs. Payne she said:

"Do I have to say anything?"

Told she could rest on her constitutional rights, she requested that privilege. Not until midnight tonight did

77.59% AGAINST WAR IN LATEST TRIBUNE TALLY

All 50 Wards Included in New Poll Figures.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Returns from all 50 wards in Chicago are contained for the first time in today's report on THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S war poll, being conducted by mail in Cook county and nine downstate cities on the question: "Shall the United States Enter the War to Help Britain Defeat Hitler?"

First ballots from the eight wards missing in yesterday's report strengthen the sentiment against war already registered in all except one of the remaining wards. In the 24th ward, long a Democratic stronghold presided over by Ald. J. M. Arvey, now with the army in Camp Forrest, Tenn., a majority vote is being cast daily for intervention. The majority was 54 per cent yesterday.

11,155 Ballots Received.

Last night a total of 11,155 ballots had been received, with these results:

Yes [for war]: 2,408, or 21.59 per cent.

No [against war]: 8,655, or 77.59 per cent.

Spoiled or unmarked ballots totaled 92, or .82 of 1 per cent.

The total of 257,484 ballots mailed in THE TRIBUNE'S poll includes 227,484 sent to every 10th voter in Chicago and Cook county and approximately 30,000 to voters in the nine election board cities of Cairo, Bloomington, Springfield, Rockford, Aurora, Peoria, East St. Louis, Danville, and Galesburg. Downstate returns will be printed as soon as they are received and tabulated.

Eight More Wards Included.

The eight wards which appear initially in today's ward table are scattered thruout the city. The 12th adjoins the stockyards on the near southwest side, and the 28th and 29th lie west of the loop and have sizable blocs of Irish-American voters. The 36th adjoins the 30th on the north and extends roughly from Pulaski road to Harlem avenue, between North and Fullerton avenues.

The 41st lies at the northwest corner of the city, while the 45th and 46th, north but closer to the loop, have many German residents. The last of the eight, the 48th, contains the Wilson avenue district. All registered noninterventionist sentiment in varying degrees.

Because a few ballots are being received daily with stamps on them, it is explained once more that postage is prepaid. Those receiving ballots need only mark an X in the square opposite "Yes" or "No," detach the return card, and drop it in a mail box.

War Poll Results from All Wards

Following are the ward results from the balloting, to date, in The Chicago Tribune's war poll on the question: "Shall the United States Enter the War to Help Britain Defeat Hitler?" Returns have been received from each of the city's 50 wards.

VOTES FOR PEACE INCREASE MARGIN IN NEW YORK POLL

Ballot Battle Spreads from Manhattan.

New York, July 6 [Special].—Peace proponents who want America to keep clear of the British-Nazi conflict boosted their huge majority in the New York News postcard poll today as the dramatic battle of ballots spread out in ever-widening circles from Manhattan.

The vote indicator tilted the isolationist share of the ballots up from 67.8 per cent to 68.2 per cent, largely as a result of a fresh influx of cards from outlying assembly districts in the Bronx and Brooklyn. Last night there were 26,866 negative to 12,548 affirmative votes on the question:

"Shall the United States Enter the War to Help Britain Defeat Hitler?"

One in Every Ten Gets Card.

Since one registered voter in every 10 is receiving a postage paid ballot the 39,414 tallied so far closely approximate the opinion of 394,140 odd citizens of New York state.

Sensations of the poll so far remain the remarkable prowar unity of the extremely high and low income assembly districts in Manhattan and the tidal wave of fight Hitler votes from Harlem.

These areas have served to keep Manhattan the brightest spot in the interventionist picture. Borough and upstate percentages now stand:

Manhattan: Yes, 34.9; no, 65.1.
Bronx: Yes, 32.7; no, 67.3.
Brooklyn: Yes, 25.5; no, 74.5.
Upstate: Yes, 27.9; no, 72.1.

The St. Mary's park section in the Bronx was helping to cut into the prowar figures. It was going isolationist by nearly 5 to 1.

Await Small Home Area Tally.

The south Brooklyn 3d assembly district was shouting "No!" by 469 to 91. There are hundreds of Irish American families in this district.

One big unknown in the poll is how the small home areas, such as the St. Albans and Jamaica sections of Queens, and the strictly rural areas upstate will swing. Few votes as yet are in from such sections and they may be of the utmost importance.

EDWINA MANDEL LOSES JEWELS IN $100,000 THEFT

Carmel, Cal., July 6 [Special].—Theft from a hotel here of jewelry valued at $100,000, the property of Mrs. Edwina Kinsley Mandel, divorced wife of Frank E. Mandel of Chicago, and Edward G. Sutherland, Hollywood film director and friend of Mrs. Mandel, was revealed tonight.

The jewelry was taken from the Pine Tree Inn and apparently dispatched to San Francisco in two suitcases, police said tonight. State police sent out a message stating that a warrant was held for the arrest of Leonard Steinert, who had been employed at the hotel as a clerk only 27 days.

San Francisco police said the hotel detail had been asked to check two suitcases sent by bus from Carmel and deposited at a downtown San Francisco depot. When the police arrived at the depot the suitcases already had been claimed.

85 MEXICANS DIE WHEN LIGHTNING STRIKES THEATER

GUADALAJARA, Mexico, July 7 [Monday] (AP).—At least 85 persons were reported killed and 11 injured seriously last night when lightning struck a crowded motion picture theater, causing the audience to stampede for the exits. Most of the victims were trampled in the struggle to escape from the building, which caught fire and collapsed. Authorities estimated that 2,000 persons were in the theater when the lightning struck during the midst of a heavy wind and rain storm.

FLOW OF U. S. OIL TO JAPAN SHOWS SHARP 1941 GAIN

Decline Is Registered in Exports of Cotton.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 6.—A total of 1,097,000 barrels of gasoline was exported to Japan from the United States in the first three months of 1941, in comparison to 282,000 barrels in the corresponding period of 1940.

The latest reports are that civilian motorists in Japan can obtain only six gallons a month. Practically all the gasoline goes to war uses.

American exports of lubricating oils to Japan totaled 364,000 barrels in the first three months this year, as compared to 130,000 barrels in the corresponding period of 1940.

Cotton Purchases Shifted.

There also is evidence that the trade with the United States has figured at least indirectly in the partial fulfillment by Japan of the economic obligations it assumed with the axis powers under the tripartite pact last September.

While pressing this trade favorable to the Japanese industrial and war program, Japan has shifted huge purchases of cotton from the United States to Brazil and Peru. Dollar exchange for purchases by Japan in South American and other countries apparently is aided by the enormous sale of raw silk in the United States.

Statistics Show Change.

Statistics of the New York Cotton exchange show that cotton exports to Japan from the United States declined from 451,000 bales during the first five months of 1940 to 61,000 bales from January thru May of this year.

Coincident with this was a report by the Raw Silk Importers, Inc., that 90,684 bales of raw silk were purchased by the trade in this country from Japan during the first five months of 1941, in comparison to 76,935 during the corresponding period of last year.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

ARMS TO BRITISH CARGOES REACH ONE SHIP A DAY

Munitions Sent to Spur Egyptian Campaign.

Washington, D. C., July 6 (AP).—The flow of lend-lease munitions to Egypt to reënforce Britain's defense of the middle east was reported authoritatively today to have reached almost a ship a day.

Officials familiar with administration of the 7 billion dollar lend-lease fund said between 20 and 25 ships a month were being dispatched either by way of Atlantic or Pacific ocean routes to the Red sea.

The manner in which shipments have been accelerated after a slow start tended to relieve the pessimism of some American military experts over British chances of holding on in the Mediterranean.

Russian Invasion Studied.

Officials were said reliably to be hopeful now that the diversion of Nazi forces to the invasion of Russia would provide sufficient time for the British to obtain needed arms.

Cargoes of early arrivals in Egypt included fast new type 13 ton army tanks, which the British need particularly to replace heavy losses of mechanized equipment in Greece and in North Africa.

Some of the tanks already have seen action. Officials were silent on the results, but the war department was reported to have been informed that they did a good job in their baptism of fire in the British foray last month against German forces west of Egypt's Libyan border.

Armed with a 37 millimeter cannon and several machine guns, the light tanks are being turned out at the rate of more than 10 a day at a Pennsylvania plant.

Guns Lacking in Mobility.

In addition to tanks, shipments have included bombers and pursuit planes—which already have seen action in Syria and Africa—and guns and ammunition. Crews of American mechanics have arrived in Egypt to direct assembling of the warplanes.

The guns presumably include approximately 80 World war type field artillery pieces, which President Roosevelt disclosed on the eve of the Nazi invasion had been released for transfer to Greece.

They are French 75 milimeter guns, and altho not as mobile and modern as some of the army's newer weapons they are considered to be of definite military value.

Altho more than three months has elapsed since Mr. Roosevelt signed the lend-lease appropriation, munitions shipments in volume have reached their destination only recently because of the voyage of more than 12,000 miles via the Red sea.

INDICATES NAVAL PATROLS IN 700 MILES OF EUROPE

Salem, Mass., July 6 (AP).—Representative George J. Bates [R., Mass.], a member of the house naval affairs committee and an advocate of aid to Britain, indicated in an interview today that the United States navy is patroling the Atlantic ocean to points within 700 miles of Europe.

"The navy is patroling the western hemisphere," Bates said, "and if you want to define the limits of the hemisphere, you can probably find points within 700 miles of Europe."

Bates, who is opposed to sending an expeditionary force to Europe, said he knew nothing of army or navy plans to send garrison forces to Greenland. Questioned about reports quoting him as describing the navy as serving "in a sense as the eyes of the British fleet," Bates said: "Naturally, I assume the ships are on neutrality patrol and are reporting the positions of whatever craft they see. That's what they're there for, isn't it?"

LET ROOSEVELT DECIDE ON WAR, PRELATE URGES

Bishop Asserts People Lack 'Experience.'

Washington, D. C., July 6 (AP).—Bishop Joseph P. Hurley of the Roman Catholic diocese of St. Augustine, Fla., expressed the view today in a radio address that President Roosevelt rather than congress should decide when and whether the United States should enter the war against Germany.

Bishop Jos. P. Hurley. [A. P. Photo.]

America's relation to the European conflict no longer is diplomatic or political, the bishop said, but has entered the "zone of strategy."

Therefore, he said, the problem of strategy should be left to the commander-in-chief "who alone, in constant, loyal communication with congress and in consultation with his military and naval advisers, is capable of bringing us safely thru the dangers which encompass us."

Marked as Nazi Enemy, He Says.

"In the present circumstances," he said, "we must not lose sight of the fact that the declaration of war, the constitutional prerogative of congress, is no longer in style; the Nazi has seen to that. . . . Since the Nazi has from the first marked us as his enemy, it is well that we accept that fact, even tho it has not yet pleased him to make war upon us. But his policy of limited objectives, that policy by which he betrayed and enslaved a continent, is fast approaching the point of a showdown with us. . . .

"My great fear is that we will not be permitted to have the choice between war and peace; that the Nazi will not let us have peace as he did not let the nations of Europe have peace. Most qualified observers think that our only choice is when we shall enter the war."

Asserts People Lack Experience.

Bishop Hurley said the people have neither the experience nor access to the facts to decide whether we should go to war.

"Nor does the constitution demand it," he went on. "I have an abiding faith in government by the people, but I do not believe that questions of national security, in an epoch of crisis, should be submitted directly to them."

The prelate said he had no confidence in any one who "seeks in a time of crisis to undermine legitimate authority, who speaks disparagingly or distrustfully of our highest magistrates." "Among them is a small but noisy group of Catholics," he said. . . . "They will disappear in time, like those other exhibitionists—the marathon dancers and the flagpole sitters—who amused America for awhile and vanished."

BISHOPS RALLY REICH CATHOLICS TO UPHOLD FAITH

Battle Curbs on Religion, but Pledge Loyalty.

BERLIN, July 6 (AP).—Bishops of greater Germany appealed to Catholics today to stand fast in their faith at a time when "existence or nonexistence of Christianity" in Germany is at stake.

A pastoral letter assailing Nazi steps against the church and anti-religious tendencies was framed by the bishops recently at Fulda, an ancient seat of German culture northeast of Frankfurt. It was said to have been composed "at the grave of St. Boniface," apostle of Germany who was martyred June 5, 755 [or 754].

This was the first bitter protest read from the pulpits since the start of the war and it had a startling effect among the faithful.

Lament Loss of Schools.

The letter outlined recent "limitations" put on the church and emphasized dangers which it said the church was facing.

"We have lost our schools," the letter said," and now our infant schools [kindergartens] must be closed."

Kindergartens, a German institution, are conducted especially to care for youngsters during the day when their parents are at work or have other duties.

The bishops said they had protested most sharply against this step, as well as against other anti-church actions.

"Influences at work against religion," the letter said, include a book, the title of which was not given, that is said to tell readers Germany faced a choice between "Christ and the fatherland."

Protest Loyalty to Nation.

The letter opened with warm praise for soldiers, saying their achievements encouraged constant prayers in their behalf. It described how the church had made war sacrifices in the interests of the German nation, opened cloisters and other institutions for quartering of soldiers, how theological students fought in the field and priests worked at the front as chaplains and members of ambulance corps.

The Catholic church in Germany is "loyal to the government," the letter said.

PERUVIANS BOMB ECUADOR TOWNS IN BOUNDARY WAR

QUITO, Ecuador, July 6 (AP).—An official announcement tonight said four Peruvian warplanes had bombarded the Ecuadorean frontier town of Chacras, destroying the church and military barracks. Semiofficial sources in Guayaquil said Peruvian warplanes had bombarded advanced Ecuadorean military posts at Huaquillas, Chacras, Matapalo, and Carbon today.

The Guayaquil newspaper El Telegrafo carried a dispatch from Machala saying Peru had massed many troops on the border and was expelling Ecuadoreans. Frontier towns in southern Ecuador were said to fear an invasion. A ministry of defense communique said Peruvian artillery also had bombarded Chacras, as well as Balzalito and Guabillo.

[In Lima, Peruvian officials blamed Ecuador for the outbreaks. They said Ecuadorean troops struck at Aguas Verdes, La Palma, Le Chugal, and Renam, but were repulsed with 16 killed and many wounded to the Peruvians' 1 killed and 3 wounded.]

President Arroya del Rio hurriedly called his cabinet into session.

Nazi Planes Bomb Area Around Smolensk.

BERLIN, July 6 (AP).—Tightening of a Nazi noose upon 52,000 isolated soviet troops west of Minsk—a roundup apparently intended to clear the way for an "all-out" assault upon the Stalin line—was declared by the German high command today to have increased its roll of Russian prisoners to about 300,000.

"Under pressure of the German pincers," a special communique phrased it, the 52,000 "deserted" the Red army cause.

[These apparently were among units of two Russian field armies, totaling perhaps 500,000 men, which were declared on July 1 to have been surrounded between Bialystok and Minsk, the White Russian capital.]

This mass capture and a previous report of 20,000 who yielded in a body led the German press to talk about a revolt in the soviet forces.

Admit Stubborn Resistance.

DNB, the official German news agency, said "the collapse of the fighting spirit of these Russian troops can be seen ever more clearly" in the reported desertions. However, it added, other units of the Russian army are fighting stubbornly to hold up the German advance.

"The soviet air force lost 281 planes yesterday," the high command said, "compared with our 11 losses." Of the total, 183 were destroyed on the ground.

[The Berlin radio said this boosted the total of Russian planes destroyed to more than 7,000—about 60 squadrons—since the outbreak of the German-Russian war on June 22.]

Without a direct reference to the armored spearhead which was declared authoritatively on Saturday to have established contact with the main soviet defenses along the Dnieper river at Orsha, the high command reiterated that "operations against the so-called Stalin line are continuing according to plan."

Smolensk Is Bombed.

Smolensk, ancient industrial city and railroad center which lies on the Dnieper 70 miles upstream from Orsha and 230 miles west of Moscow, was "subjected to further effective air attacks Saturday night." The city already had been reported in flames from repeated bombings.

"In the region of Zhitomir [in the Ukraine] more than 500 soviet trucks were destroyed and 18 railroad cars were seriously damaged by bomb hits and airplane guns.

[Only in the report of the aerial raids about Zhitomir did the daily communique cite developments outside the vital central front, where German forces have arched into White Russia as deep as 350 miles from their starting line on the frontier of the German ruled area of old Poland.]

VICHY, France, July 6 (AP).—Advices reaching military circles in Vichy from the Russian front said the German land drive was definitely slowing, but the air attack was being stepped up. The picture gained in Vichy from dispatches telling of the state of the front was this:

The Germans apparently had not yet captured Murmansk, soviet arctic post.

In Karelia the Finns were attacking the Viipuri [Viborg] railway line at Sortavala.

In Estonia the Russians were evacuating Tallinn.

In White Russia the Germans were attacking in the areas of Nevel, Polotsk, and Lepel.

South of the Pinsk marshes the Germans were pushing in the direction of Novograd Volynski, and Tarnopol, but the Russian line had not been pierced.

In Galicia the Russians were fighting a stubborn rearguard action toward their old frontier.

In Bessarabia the Rumanians advanced slightly, but suffered big losses.

TAKE BODY FROM DRAINAGE CANAL.

The body of John Markvart, 61 years old 1339 West 19th street, a butcher, was recovered yesterday from the drainage canal at South Pulaski road.

Minsk Occupied by Germans 3 Days, Nazi Reporter Says

BERLIN, July 6 (AP).—Minsk, capital of White Russia, has been in German hands for three days, a German soldier war reporter wrote in a DNB [German] news agency dispatch, dated today. However, the high command still has not announced its capture.

The reporter, Karl-Heinz Balzer, said the Germans and Russians engaged in bitter street fighting in the city of 140,000 inhabitants. The city was taken by a panzer [armored] division which rolled thru smoldering ruins.

Even after the Germans had marched into the city and established their authority the Russians continued to challenge the German occupation.

Snipers Spring to Life.

"The division commander had temporarily established his battle headquarters on a small city square," Balzer wrote.

"Sharpshooters who repeatedly sprang to life were made harmless one by one. The work of mopping up proceeded according to plan without hampering operations as a whole.

"Unnoticed, a large brown tank rumbled down the invasion highway toward the square from the direction of Moscow. Even today no one knows where it came from.

"But the first bewilderment was followed by lightning-like action. The bolshevik was shot into flames.

Tank Fires Wildly.

"German anti-tank shells punctured the turret and penetrated into the interior. Like a wounded and crazed stag charging to the attack, the bolshevik fired wildly in every direction. He didn't hit very well while moving but nevertheless soldiers on our side were wounded by shell splinters.

"The end to this crazy act came on the square in front of division headquarters. The Russian crew wanted to crawl out of the tank but burned to death inside."

Balzer attributed the Russian act to "blind fanaticism" rather than "supreme bravery."

200 Stranded on Vessel Aground in St. Lawrence

LACHINE, Que., July 6 (AP).—Two hundred passengers were stranded tonight aboard the S. S. Rapids Prince, a shallow draft river boat, after it went aground in the raging Lachine rapids of the St. Lawrence. The ship was on a cruise run from Prescott, Ont., to Montreal. It was designed for shooting the rapids where it is now aground.

Nazis and Reds Exchange Diplomatic Delegations

SOFIA, Bulgaria, July 6 (AP).—German and soviet diplomatic delegations were exchanged late today at the Bulgarian-Turkish border town of Svilengraf.

FRENCH VESSEL SAILS FROM U.S. FOR N. AFRICA

Baltimore, Md., July 6 (AP).—The Ile D'Ouessant, one of two French freighters released under an agreement between American and French colonial officials, left Baltimore today with a general cargo for French North Africa. Capt. Eugene Guering commanded a crew of 37 aboard the vessel.

Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles, in announcing the agreement last week, said it was approved by Great Britain. Shipments would be regular so long as United States consulate authorities supervised distribution of the goods in Morocco, Algiers, and Tunisia as guaranteed by the French.

The Ile D'Ouessant and Ile De Noirmoutier, the second ship now at New York, are to bring back such materials as minerals, metals, and cork, considered strategic in the American armament program.

LWOW A FUNERAL CITY IN WAKE OF RED EXECUTIONS

Hundreds Shot as Soviet Army Retreats.

BY ALVIN J. STEINKOPF.

(Picture on back page.)

LWOW, German-occupied Poland, July 6 (AP).—Lwow was a city of funerals today in the wake of mass killings accompanying the Russian withdrawal from the region occupied by the Red army for a year and a half. The train of funerals was a parade of death such as few great cities have seen in modern times.

Arrow Locates Lwow.

The spirit of the population of 225,000 appeared utterly crushed as the somber processions moved toward the cemeteries. Most of the mass funerals took place yesterday. Simple coffins of scores of unidentified civilians were buried closely, side by side in long trenches. There were services today for individuals who were identified and for whom there was some one left to mourn.

Artillery, tanks, and German supply trucks moving endlessly eastward paused at many street intersections for a moment to permit the funerals to pass.

Confusion Thruout City.

The funerals were made more tragic by the utmost confusion in all sections of the city's life as consequences of the Russian occupation. Many simple folk and many prominent citizens are missing. Their fate is a mystery. Thus, many were buried without a tear or a thought from the nearest of kin. Families were hopelessly scattered.

The whole ghastly scene is a situation which any experienced correspondent would view with the greatest suspicion. It is a grisly episode which could be exploited by organized propaganda from this side or the other. But here are the cruel facts which are beyond dispute.

Hundreds of persons, possibly several thousand, were killed in this and neighboring communities before the region was occupied by the German army. I saw scores of bodies. Military pathologists turned them over and indicated the usual manner of execution—a shot in the back of the neck.

Bodies Jam Prison Basements.

In this city bodies were jammed for the most part into basements of three prisons. German authorities say similar blood baths occurred in other communities in this district.

Who were the dead?

The usual answer is that they were Ukrainians who either were or were suspected of having been agents of the Ukrainian independence movement. That movement was vigorously suppressed by the Russian government and was opposed with increasing bitterness as Russian and German differences reached a critical point.

It is hard for an American to talk to the inhabitants of this terrified city. In the first place, they are frightened by any stranger. Secondly, they are not sure how this new western army which is rolling thru the town is going to act.

But gradually it becomes understood that aside from imposing certain strict regulations respecting military affairs the German army is not interested in the problems or woes of the civilian population. But a few were coaxed to talk.

Reds Ruled Immediately.

A baker and a stone mason standing under pine trees lining the stately avenue filled with the sound of German motors said communization of the Polish town was started immediately after the Russian occupation in September, 1939.

They said a great number of commissars took over all industry and business and everything was becoming governmental. There was not time in the comparatively few months to establish a communistic system completely. Lwow was in the transition period, with commissars taking control of an increasing number of businesses.

A Pole sitting in the sun in a wagon and idly watching the world go by, said the farmers, step by step, were being made to deliver increasing portions of their produce to government agencies.

Consumers complained that prices were high and there were periodic shortages, but he said that on the whole there were enough provisions to go around.

Lwow still is without running water, making sewage disposal an urgent problem. The Germans promised that would be in order soon. Most shops are still closed.

BRITISH SEIZE TEN GENERALS IN ETHIOPIA MOP-UP

CAIRO, Egypt, July 6 (AP).—British middle east forces announced today the capture of 10 Italian generals in Ethiopia and new bombing raids on Italian and German troops under the government's official injunction for speeding up of campaigns.

Capt. Oliver Lyttleton, special cabinet minister sent to the Mediterranean area, said that "we need speed to win the war—I'm here for that."

Gen. Pietro Gazzera who directed Italian resistance in Ethiopian mountain strongholds and nine other generals surrendered to British troops, along with an additional 1,300 Italian and 3,800 native troops.

Except for a besieged garrison at Gondar, in northern Ethiopia, and a small force dispersed in the wilderness southwest of Assab, Eritrea, all of Italian East Africa was described as clear of Italian troops.

Frustrate Tobruk Dash.

BERLIN, July 6 (AP).—An attempt by the British garrison at Tobruk, Libya, to break out of the axis siege lines was declared today to have been broken by concentrated German and Italian artillery fire.

Nazi planes were said to have attacked harbor facilities of Famagusta, on the east coast of the British-held Island of Cyprus, on July 4 and damaged two large merchantmen loading machinery.

Scales of Justice—and Wages

There is bound to be a good deal of discussion of the demands for increased pay that have been made upon the railroads. Here are some facts and comments:

The railroad labor unions have demanded wage increases averaging about 41 per cent. In the case of the Illinois Central, these wage increases would mean added costs of approximately $23,500,000 a year.

Such demands are naturally of interest to everybody—to those who use the railroad and foot the bill, to those who work for it, to those who have put their money in it.

These wage increase demands are so tremendous they bear no relation to profits, either that have been earned or that can be expected. There never have been and are never likely to be such profits in the business.

The Illinois Central has fortunately been able to keep up all payments on its interest-bearing obligations. However, the stockholders have not received anything for the last ten years—since 1931.

If increased pay should make it necessary to increase freight and passenger rates, that would certainly lead to further increases in prices, which is something we all want to avoid.

It should be unnecessary to say that labor is worthy of its hire. However, the pay of those whose labor runs the railroads must be within reason.

FRENCH ORDER 3,000 BRITISH TO MOVE INLAND

Forbid Them to Reside in Mediterranean Area.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MARSEILLES, France, July 6.—French authorities today notified more than 3,000 English residents that they must leave their homes along the Mediterranean coast in the departments of Bouches-du-Rhone, Var and Alpes-Maritimes within 10 days. The English will be obliged to live in eight designated areas farther in the interior and afterward will not be permitted to leave the districts they choose.

The outbreak of the war found many English people residing on the Mediterranean coast of France and most of them, after last summer's crackup of the Franco-British, alliance, remained in France and were supplied with funds by American consular authorities by a special arrangement with the London government.

Food Situation Blamed.

It was expected that most of the English citizens who will be obliged to leave the Mediterranean will go to the region of Grenoble in the Isere department.

No definite explanation is given for this further fissure between the two former allies, but it was explained that difficulties of rationing in the Mediterranean region where the food situation is increasingly serious, makes it impossible for the English to be maintained there any longer.

The measure also occurs at a moment when the French are becoming increasingly exasperated over the bombing of open towns in Syria and especially at what is alleged to be the bombing of Gen. Henri Dentz's residence as high commissioner.

American consular authorities in Marseilles and Lyons today were arranging to assure funds to the English in their new residences. Apparently, all have refused to return to England.

Push Roundup of Russians.

The French measures to remove the English residents from the Mediterranean region also coincide with Marshal Henri Petain's decision to take drastic action to round up Russians—both White and Red—since last Monday's rupture of diplomatic relations.

Here in Marseilles, some three or four thousand Russians have been detained and are held on ships in Marseilles harbor. Some have been released after examination of their papers. A survey shows that literally thousands of Russians have been detained all over the country.

'KILLER' TANK ADDED TO BRITISH FORCES; CLAIM GREAT POWER

LONDON, July 6 (AP).—Britain has a new 16-ton "killer" tank which, the ministry of supply said today, is powerful enough to destroy any machine it is likely to encounter. It is armed with a cannon firing a two pound shell capable of piercing any tank "as yet met in any German armored formation," the ministry said, and carries a crew of three at a 15 mile an hour speed. Formerly known as the Mark III., the tank has been renamed the Valentine.

[In both armament and speed the new mobile weapon would appear to be deficient as compared with 60 or 80 ton tanks unless exceptional hitting power is packed into the shells, probably of 37 or 40 millimeter caliber. Larger guns are known to be mounted in medium and heavy combat tanks and their speed ranges up to 30 miles.]

The ministry said that "heavier, deadlier and harder-hitting vehicles are being designed. The "killer" model is reported to cruise in open country like a good car on a good road.

PROPAGANDA FOR U. S. TO BE PEPPED UP, BRITAIN TOLD

LONDON, July 6. — Sir Gerald Campbell, director of British propaganda in the United States, today outlined some of the things he thinks Britain should do in the line of propaganda in America. He arrived here from Lisbon, Portugal, by air yesterday.

"We want to show the American working man the effect his work is having," Campbell said. "We want to send over stories of what the ammunition and aircraft they are making are doing here. I want to get my organization going as quickly as possible in these critical times."

Campbell is of the opinion that much more could be done by radio, and said he is going to study possible improvements in the British Broadcasting company services.

TORPEDOES SINK ITALIAN CRUISER, BRITAIN CLAIMS

3 Axis Supply Ships Sent Down in Mediterranean.

LONDON, July 6 (AP).—Submarine sinking of an Italian cruiser, probably the 10,000 ton Gorizia, and three axis supply ships and the torpedo crippling of a 9,000 ton Italian merchant cruiser were claimed by the British admiralty today after a spurt in Mediterranean warfare.

If it actually was the Gorizia, then British naval power apparently had wiped out all of the Zara class of four cruisers launched in 1930 and 1931. The Zara, Fiume and Pola are believed to have been sunk in the Battle of Matapan, off southern Greece, on March 28.

These cruisers, carrying normal complements of 705 men, each were armed with eight 8-inch guns.

The admiralty communique said that on June 29 a British submarine sighted two Italian 8-inch gun cruisers screened by four destroyers. Quickly the submarine fired torpedoes into the bunched warships.

Struck by Two Torpedoes.

"The leading cruiser, thought to have been the Gorizia, was struck by two torpedoes," the communique said. "The magazine blew up and the enemy cruiser sank."

The Italian steamship Polinnia, 1,592 tons, was found carrying supplies to the Italian naval base of Cagliari on the southern coast of Sardinia, western Mediterranean island, and was torpedoed to the bottom as was another "enemy supply ship" of about 6,000 tons.

A third supply ship, of about 8,000 tons, "blew up with a violent explosion and is thought to have been carrying ammunition."

The admiralty announced the loss of the trawlers Tranio and Resmilo. There were no casualties.

Sink Two Cargoes of Planes.

BERLIN, July 6 (AP).—German U-boats sank two British freighters loaded with planes on July 4, DNB, the official German news agency said today.

One ship was loaded with Spitfires [fighters] destined for the British base at Alexandria, Egypt, it said, and the other bore planes of the newest type toward England. It was not stated whether the aircraft cargo of the second ship was of American manufacture.

While not announcing the periods of all the operations involved, the high command said Nazi U-boats had sunk six British freighters totaling 33,830 tons in the Atlantic and damaged one; and that bombers had sunk two totaling 11,000 tons in the waters around England.

BRITISH PROPOSE 'PAINLESS' TRUCE IN SYRIAN WAR

Hear French Chief Spurns Generous Terms.

ANKARA, Turkey, July 6 (AP).—Britain has proposed a "painless" armistice in Syria with generous surrender terms to the Vichy troops, it was reported today, but the French commander in the Levant, Gen. Henri Dentz, is described as determined to fight to the end. It was said the British proposals were transmitted thru a neutral intermediary.

Gen. Henri Dentz.

Some British circles professed to believe Gen. Dentz's subordinate officers could be persuaded to agree to an armistice even if the commander remained adamant. Responsible British sources here said the collapse of French resistance in the Levant was inevitably approaching.

Would Take War Supplies.

The French soldiers, it was understood, would be given the choice of joining the Free French troops of Gen. Charles de Gaulle or of returning to France. All French ships, planes, arms, and war supplies found in Syria would be taken over by the British.

The French embassy in Ankara denied that Syria would be surrendered, and declared the Vichy government was backing Gen. Dentz to the fullest.

Neutral reports from Beirut, Lebanese port against which British troops are pressing, said widespread disorders had broken out in that city, with some looting of shops by colonial soldiers in uniform.

Battle Near Beirut.

BEIRUT, Lebanon, July 6 (AP).—French and British forces battled bitterly at the Damour river south of Beirut today, the French high command said, following all night artillery preparation by the invaders in which the British fleet took part.

[At Jerusalem, Australian infantrymen were declared to have crossed the Damour river 12 miles south of Beirut and captured the strategic village of El Boum in their drive against the Lebanese capital. Air attacks on Beirut also were reported.]

Sink French Ship.

LONDON, July 6 (AP).—The Vichy French auxiliary vessel St. Didier, flying the Turkish flag, has been sunk by British aircraft, it was reported authoritatively tonight.

IT'S AN EVENING WAR ON FINNISH FRONT AT HANGO

Action Starts at 7 P.M., Goes On in Night.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ON THE HANGO FRONT IN FINLAND, July 6.—Military activities begin in the evening on this front—the Hango base on the southern tip of Finland which the Russians obtained by lease under the peace treaty of last year's soviet-Finnish war. Today started the third week since the new war began, with the Germans on the side of the Finns against the Russians.

At 7 p. m.—as on other evenings—Russian artillery opened fire against suspected points. Until now there has been no real attack from the Finns who are slowly closing in on three sides of the fortified peninsula. The pressure is being exerted along the isthmus to Hango and over the hundreds of flanking islands.

Patrols Among the Islands.

During the 14 months occupation, the soviet forces have strongly fortified the peninsula and the islands. However, the Finns already have captured some of the islands and among them during the short summer nights there is intense patrol activity. Thus far, Finnish officers said, no attempts have been made by soviet patrols to penetrate Finnish positions.

While the Finns alone are conducting the land operations, they are receiving assistance from German stuka [dive bomber] squadrons. The combined Finnish-German blockade of Hango harbor, officers said, is not altogether successful. Five soviet ships succeeded in reaching Hango a few days ago. They left yesterday after a heavy bombardment by stukas.

Marksmanship Poor.

I saw Russian fighter planes patroling and occasionally the big guns on both sides would fire a few rounds. Thundershowers had soaked the forest and the muggy air made the explosions seem much nearer than they were. Craters made by Russian shells showed their accuracy was poor. A major's tent was near anti-tank guns massed on the shore. The nearest shell crater was 300 yards away.

From this point a quarter of mile of water separated us from the Russian positions. I could see barbed wire entanglements and artillery observation points, and the armored tops of machine gun nests.

The so-called Finnish front line trenches were only about 18 inches wide and 2 feet deep, winding on the shoreline. A three mile walk along this defense line revealed anti-tank guns of various calibers which control the waters in front.

Plenty of Tommy guns were in evidence. I heard one of these go off. A soldier had shot himself in the stomach while pulling his gun from a tree. The wound was not serious and he was carted off to the rear holding the package of cigarets the major had given him along with a reprimand. No more Tommy guns are to be hung on trees, the major ordered.

Bomb Towns Along Shore.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, July 6 (AP).—Soviet bombers continued today their daily raids on the southern Finnish coast and an official report said appreciable civilian damage was done. Lovisa still was the most frequent target and a number of private buildings were reported destroyed or damaged over the week-end.

INDIANA STATE OFFICIAL SLAIN; WOMAN IS HELD

Seized After Shots Thru Window.

she say anything else. Then she spoke by indirection and cautiously.

Sheriff Baxter was detailing, at her request, Mattingly's dying statement.

"But he said he didn't see you," he told her.

Her reply catapulted from her—"Didn't he?" she exclaimed.

Later the sheriff asked her how many people were in the kitchen with Mattingly.

"I didn't see any one but Doc," she replied, using the nickname by which Mattingly was known to all.

These have been her only incriminating words.

Quick Coroner's Verdict.

In Indiana there is no shilly-shally or delay in the matter of inquests. Coroner Demotte concluded his before midnight last night. He was the judge and the jury, as is the custom in Indiana, and his verdict was first degree murder [premeditated murder for which a death sertence may be imposed as penalty].

"We had no eye witnesses," he said tonight, "but that doesn't worry us a bit. He was shot five times in the back. He was leaning against the screen. All the slayer had to do was press the gun there and slug him. We took four bullets out of his body. The fifth fell out on the floor when he fell over."

As evidence, Coroner Demotte had the guns and a cast taken of footprints outside the Nickas kitchen window, which tallied with an imprint of the shoes worn by Mrs. Payne when she was taken into custody. Most damaging of all was the testimony of three persons—Joe Fagan, Nickas' next door neighbor; a filling station operator, and a cab driver.

Neighbor Tells Story.

Fagan came out on his porch when he heard the shots. Out of the darkness and into the lighted area surrounding his house he saw a woman emerge. She was nervous, excited, juggling a large black purse.

"Can I use your telephone?" she asked Fagan.

He told her he had none and directed her to a filling station a block up the street. She hesitated.

At that moment, however, several persons began streaming from the adjoining Nickas house. The woman's irresolution vanished. She ran wildly up the street.

Fagan later positively identified Mrs. Payne as the woman who had come to him out of the shadows.

The filling station operator told of a woman who came in frantically and in haste. She called two numbers. She asked that a cab come there to pick her up, and she directed an ambulance to the home of Nickas.

He, too, later identified Mrs. Payne as the woman.

A cab driver told of having been summoned by Mrs. Payne earlier in the evening. When they came to within a block of the Nickas home she said, "This will do," and got out. By coincidence, he was the same driver summoned to the filling station, but when he reached it no one was waiting.

"A woman called for you," the attendant told him, "but she seemed pretty nervous. She started walking by herself."

The cab driver found her two blocks farther on.

"Take me to 411 North Lincoln [Mrs. Payne's home] and hurry," she directed him.

Mrs. Payne is being held without warrant "for investigation." Tomorrow a coroner's writ will be taken out. In Indiana this is tantamount to a warrant in Illinois.

Once Roomed at Payne Home.

Back of the tragedy is a long story which has been common gossip in Bloomington for more than a decade. It goes back to the early 1920s, when Mattingly, a student at Indiana university here, took a room at Mrs. Payne's rooming house.

Mrs. Payne, now 43, then was the wife of State Senator Earl W. Payne who died last year. She divorced him in 1924.

For more than a decade Mattingly remained in her rooming house. Her friends now say she put him thru school and started him in his law practice. They speak, too, of their "18 year engagement."

"They got to the marrying stage a number of times," one friend said tonight. They even went as far as the courthouse to get their license three times."

In the meantime Mrs. Payne kept her roomers and did newspaper work. Currently she is distributor here for an Indianapolis newspaper and business manager of the Bloomington Telephone. Mattingly also prospered and, as he prospered, acquired a secretary, Mrs. Lourayn Witchen, a divorcée, formerly of Auburn, Ind. It was she to whom he was married in May, 1940.

Hears of Marriage.

No one knew of the marriage for several months, altho Mrs. Payne openly suspected it. When it finally was known, she became, in Hoosier tongue, "mopey."

"We've known as a matter of local history that Mrs. Payne and Mattingly had been close friends for years," Prosecutor Cook explained. "So when this happened, she was the first one that came into everyone's mind. The police didn't know of the threats she had made, but practically every one else in town did. Her nephew had taken some guns away from her once. Later she tried to get a permit to carry guns, but she had been refused it."

One friend tonight advanced the explanation that Mattingly's affection toward Mrs. Payne waned after she was injured in an automobile accident in 1939. Her forehead still retains a broad scar from it, a scar which her mass of black hair does not conceal. In that accident, too, the friends intimated, she will place her defense: Insanity emanating from it.

In any event, no indictment can be returned before September when the grand jury next convenes.

"Business As Usual" Is Out!

"'Business as usual' is out!"

The man who said that to me the other day was voicing an idea on which we are all pretty well agreed. But I've been wondering, since then, whether we have really thought through exactly what this means.

For many, of course, it means new jobs and new kinds of work, as more and more businesses are shifted to defense work. For others it means giving spare time to the many volunteer jobs that need to be done.

But for still others, the end of "business as usual" means something else. It means that the jobs we have always worked at are suddenly more important, more essential than ever before.

A defense worker, for instance, a man who is producing equipment for our fighting forces, is so valuable where he is that he would be wasted anywhere else—the greatest contribution he can make is to perform his regular job better, more thoroughly, more efficiently.

It seems to me that this applies to those people who are in life insurance. Why? Because morale is an all-important part of national defense—and there can be no sounder foundation for morale than family security—no stronger stabilizing force than the knowledge that this family security is something on which people can depend.

Helping people to understand and take advantage of the value and dependability of this family security is a vitally important contribution to national morale. Hence life insurance must provide, not "service as usual," but better and more efficient service than usual.

FLEISCHMANN announces a NEW defense weapon!

IMAGINE, if you can, a bomb so powerful that it could stun a whole city—leave all the people, young and old, dull—stupefied—fumbling. A bomb so powerful it would leave the nerves of the population hopelessly jangled.

Now imagine this bomb to be noiseless—to fall like a mysterious blight on whole sections of the population without their realizing what has happened.

• • •

THERE IS SUCH A "BOMB." It is raining down on America today. And there is a defense against it—the defense weapon the U. S. Government itself is urging the whole country to accept. It is a contribution to this defense that Fleischmann is offering the nation.

The "bomb" is a lack of certain vital health substances, notably parts of the Vitamin B-Complex and iron. Millions of Americans probably suffer from this lack in some degree. There are not even any accurate estimates of the damage. But this we do know—a too-limited supply weakens and incapacitates the victims.

Here is the new defense weapon:

Today the nation's bakers are being offered a new improved yeast to enrich bread. This product, called Fleischmann's Enriched Hi-B_1 Yeast, does not change the taste, the color or the texture of bread. But when added in sufficient quantities it helps ward off the insidious and weakening effects caused by lack of those important B vitamins and the food iron recommended for "Enriched Bread."

Isn't it indeed a strange turn of events to find a food manufacturer in the first line of defense? One thinks ordinarily of the food producers and distributors as committed entirely to the arts of peace. But to Fleischmann this new thing called "total war" is an old story.

For more than two decades, Standard Brands Incorporated, the makers of Fleischmann's Yeast, have had scientists in their laboratories fighting the continuous war against human ills, supplying nutritional factors so important to national health and national strength.

As a consumer you don't need to concern yourself about the technical details of Fleischmann's Enriched Yeast and what it does for you. You are welcome to these details, but, better yet, you can assure yourself that you are getting the benefit Fleischmann's Enriched Yeast can give you by eating the enriched bread containing it.

Fleischmann's great national distribution system contacts every baker. Fleischmann's technicians are now demonstrating to the baker ways in which breads can be enriched.

• • •

We wanted you to know about this service to the nation at this time when each of us must do his part and depend on his neighbor doing likewise.

SLAIN LAWYER'S LOVE MISSIVES ARE REVEALED

Notes Found in Accused Woman's Purse.

Bloomington, Ind., July 6 [Special].—A package of letters threadbare with handling rest on the desk of Sheriff Earl M. Baxter here tonight, a terse and sometimes erotic explanation of the death of C. O. Mattingly, chief legal examiner of the Public Service commission of Indiana.

The letters, in flowing and beautiful script, were written by Mattingly to Mrs. Caroline G. Payne, who is held in the county jail for questioning on his murder here last night.

Fastened together with a rubber band, they were found in the tumbled, jumbled contents of the fat black alligator bag Mrs. Payne carried when taken into custody shortly after Mattingly had been shot five times as he sat in a friend's home.

One Ten Pages Long.

The first letter in the collection is dated June 17, 1928, and was mailed in Indianapolis, the last letter is dated Dec. 26, 1939.

The first one began, "Sweetheart," was 10 pages long and ended, "save me plenty of kisses and all your love." The signature was a model of understanding. It was "Yours."

The last letter began, "Payne." It concluded, "It is my sincere hope that you will somehow find peace and happiness. Sincerely yours, Doc."

Only one undated missive was in the collection. This was a Christmas and New Year's card inscribed to "My Pretty Peacock." Beneath the wish for happiness for all years to come were the three words [in Mattingly's handwriting],

"Our first together," and the signature, "Doc."

Excerpts from Letter.

Excerpts from the first letter given out by Prosecutor Floyd Cook said:

"Sweetheart:

"I am sorry that I did not get to write you last night.

"I knew that you would be worried, and I decided to call you. I wondered why you had not written to me today. Your special delivery was very welcome, but I rather expected you to write me again late in the evening.

"Don't worry about anything, sweet, for I am not doing anything. I told Frank and Joe I was not interested in dates or anything to drink.

"As I told you on the 'phone, I will arrange to see the bishop this week and get everything all oiled up, if I can. I am very hopeful about the situation, and I think everything can be worked out all right.

Asks Why She Didn't Write.

"You will not be allowed to do as you please then, baby. Ha! Ha!

"What were you doing last night and all day today that you didn't have time to write? I'll have to have two of my men investigate this. Maybe I'll have to see to it personally. . . .

"Your letter was too short. You write large, and I noticed that you left one sheet blank.

"I am glad that you came out [presumably from an operation] so well. We will get you fixed up, and then start saving some money for a home. It sure makes me happy to know that I will soon have a home with you in it.

"I am sure that you will be happy when you can stay home and do things for your daddy and your babies. It sure encourages me, for I know that you will be the sweetest wife and mother in the world.

"I am a little bit jealous, tho, about sharing you with anyone else, especially in view of the fact that so many mothers get wrapped up in their children and forget their husbands.

"I think that you love me too much for that, tho, and that we can handle all those things. At least, we are going to try. Aren't we, honey?

"Please write me every day. Save me plenty of kisses and all your love. Yours."

Other letters of that period were short notes, but all crowded with terms of endearment. He addressed her variously as "dear," "baby" or "sweet," and invariably signed as "Yours." Apparently he was absent only on short trips and usually planned to take the shortest route home. They were written from such points as French Lick, Ind.; Lafayette, Ind., and Detroit, Mich.

Tells of His Successes.

In them he told her of his business successes, of acquaintances he made, of food he ate, of how he was going to bed early every night and hoped she was, too. All were tender, affectionate and yearning.

The final letter, sent special delivery the day after Christmas in 1939, follows:

"Dear Payne,

"Here is a check for $2,250 which is about half of the accumulation. I do this most freely and hope that you will regard it as fair.

Declares It's a Gift.

"I am doing this for you out of appreciation for the many fine things which you have done for me. I trust that you will make use of it in such a way that it will add to your security. There is nothing for you to sign in return for it. It is a gift.

"I believe that it would be better for both of us if you will regard a reply to this as unnecessary.

"It is my sincere hope that you will somehow find peace and happiness. Sincerely yours, Doc."

THIS OASIS.

"I tell the American people solemnly," said Mr. Roosevelt in his Independence day talk, "that the United States will never survive as a happy and fertile oasis of liberty surrounded by a cruel desert of dictatorship."

Thus it appears that one may speak solemnly altho absurdly. The oasis of liberty was created in a desert of dictatorship.

The America which Mr. Roosevelt says cannot defend itself if it maintains its independence of action obtained that independence when despotisms ruled Europe and when they were entrenched in this hemisphere. How would Mr. Roosevelt describe the system of government which prevailed elsewhere when the Americans without an army or navy undertook to make for themselves something different?

The men who signed the Declaration of Independence referred to the government from which they withdrew as one intending to subject them to "absolute despotism." Yet it was the only government in Europe which had parliamentary restrictions. It was the only one in which there were some guaranteed rights.

France was a despotism. Spain was another. German princes sold their subjects into military service. The Americans met these German armies in battle. Russia was a land of serfs bound to servitude. There were no free people on the European continent. These autocracies were not just threatening to go on the prowl. They were on the prowl.

The United States is surrounded now on this hemisphere by peoples who are or who pretend to be free. They all adhere at least to the theory of government by the consent of the governed. Some of them do not make the grade but none is capable of making war on the United States. Revolutionary America was almost surrounded by military autocracies. The dictatorships with their armies and navies were near by on land and sea.

How did the Americans dare cut loose from the protection of the British fleet and armies? What made them think they could create an oasis surrounded as they were? They were warned. They were told that if they got their freedom they couldn't keep it. The powerful land grabbers were all about them waiting to swoop on them and give them a much worse dose of autocracy than they experienced under the British crown and parliament.

The tory ancestors in the background of the Roosevelt family seem to have projected their ideas into the present. Many Americans listening to Mr. Roosevelt must have thought these ideas funny rather than solemn. They knew, however, that he intended to make them frightful if he could.

DO THE BEST WITH THE BEST WE HAVE.

Hanson W. Baldwin, military critic of the New York Times, finds that after a year of intense preparation the United States army can be called satisfactory in only one respect. That is in the excellent condition of its men, who physically are prepared for the rigors of modern battle.

Otherwise, says Mr. Baldwin, not a single division in the army is ready for war. The gravest deficiencies in equipment still exist. The army has not a single dive bomber, and only a few modern attack planes or light bombers. Its light tanks are perhaps the best in the world, but its armored divisions still have no modern medium tanks, and the new model now in production, while a monument to industrial efficiency, has military defects. Self-propelling gun mounts for dealing with tank attacks are badly needed. There is a shortage of almost every variety of modern arm.

Given time, American industry will remedy these deficiencies. A more serious defect pointed out by Mr. Baldwin is in the leadership in the army. It is still training to fight a 1917 war, he intimates, and he records the conviction of many officers in the service that we cannot have an army fit for modern war until it is swept clean of the "Col. Blimps" and military reactionaries who are blocking tactical progress.

These observations should not be unfamiliar to readers of THE TRIBUNE. They are in many respects our own. It is interesting to find that our thought parallels that of such a trained and thoughtful critic as Mr. Baldwin.

He notes that while not a single division in our army is equal in equipment to the majority of Nazi divisions, the 1st and 2d divisions of regulars and the 1st and 2d marine divisions are farthest along in equipment because of priorities that have given them first call on new arms. Their most serious deficiency is in modern field artillery.

Since these divisions are the best we have, both in equipment and personnel, they should be brought together for joint training in an attempt to find out what modern tactics are like. It is suicidal to continue training our troops in 1917 and 1918 tactics, and we cannot train them in 1941 tactics until some one in this country gets a clear idea of what that kind of warfare is like.

In the absence of observers able to get comprehensive information of the way in which the Nazis operate so successfully, we can only try to experiment with our best equipped troops. Lessons from such maneuvers can then become standard, and the experimental army should be kept together to try to keep pace with the progress of the times. The two regular and two marine divisions are only infantry-artillery teams. Before our army can develop really modern tactics it must learn to use the infantry and artillery in conjunction with tanks and planes, but the armored divisions are at present so deficient in equipment that they must wait for weapons and learn to use them before attempting coöperation with other forces.

REBUILDING THE CITY'S CLOSE-IN AREAS.

The Chicago Plan commission has found a new direction for its energies. Its first task, which occupied it for a generation, was the formulation and carrying out of a program of parks and arterial highways. If allowances are made for the fact that there were few, if any, precedents to guide the planners of a great and rapidly growing industrial city and for the further fact that the popularity of the automobile was foreseen at the time only by a few visionaries, the verdict must be that the commission did its job well.

Mistakes were made, of course, the principal one being the placing of the city's main north-south highway on the lake shore, thereby depriving the people of much of the enjoyment of their greatest natural asset and forcing a one-sided development of the city. Some day, it is to be hoped, the error will be corrected by the construction of an elevated highway a mile or more west of the lake, but meanwhile, at any rate, Chicago has one high speed artery which, tho badly located, is still serviceable.

The commission recognizes that it must keep the Burnham plan up to date and, in addition, has undertaken another and perhaps more important service. Chicago is dying at its center and growing at its periphery. This is a costly process in many ways. New neighborhoods require new streets and schools, extensions of water service, sewers, and all the other utilities; new police and fire stations, street lights, etc., etc. These are all costly to build and maintain. At the same time, the declining tax revenues from the rundown sections of the city place an undue burden upon property in the other areas and encourage the movement of population into suburban districts where tax rates are lower.

Recognizing this situation, the plan commission is now proposing to play its part in the rehabilitation of the close-in areas of the city. The aim is to clear away the outworn tenements and the abandoned factories. By a judicious replanning of streets and by good landscaping and planting, it is hoped that the older neighborhoods can be made as attractive for living as are the outlying subdivisions.

The program is ambitious but it is by no means impossible of realization. Any one who has seen how quickly the barren areas along the lake have been turned into well shaded parks knows that within a few months an area of desolation can be made attractive and that the improvement continues from year to year, as the lawns and trees become established.

The close-in subdivisions must be at least as well planned as those on the rim of the city and in its suburbs. A great deal of effort must be spent in clearing the air of smoke and reducing noise. With good planning there will be ample playgrounds. The problem of the schools will remain. Much of the movement to the suburbs is attributable to dissatisfaction with the quality of public education provided in the city, but even that problem can be solved if the community has the will to do so. Certainly the close-in locations will have a large appeal to those who wish to save time in getting to and from the center of the city.

The program of the plan commission will be helpful in connection with the neighborhood rehabilitation corporations which the legislature has just authorized. The long vision of those who first advocated a Chicago plan has been fully vindicated. It is to be hoped that the more recent activities of the plan commission will prove no less successful in rehabilitating the city.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S MEMORIAL.

Mr. Roosevelt dedicating a memorial to himself at Hyde Park appears as if he were recognizing the services and merits of another man. Custom long respected has formulated some mores for such occasions. The subject of the rites is not the master of ceremonies. He is not swinging the incense burners and sniffing as he swings. This gratification Mr. Roosevelt allowed himself. He dedicated to himself the memorial which the public was invited to build and the nation was invited to maintain.

It cannot be said that Mr. Roosevelt has given himself to the nation. The national debt would indicate the contrary. He has given himself to himself. A Roman emperor's first act on coming to power was to throw down the triumphal arches of his predecessor and erect his own and to strike new coins in his own image.

Mr. Roosevelt's sky is full of purple clouds. He is the protector of royalty in exile. He has dedicated his own Westminster.

"SOCIAL REFORMS."

[Clifton (Ill.) Advocate.]

One of the most depressing signs of the times is the calflike docility of the American people in accepting so-called "social reforms" which they know deep in their hearts are wrong in principle. And even when they occasionally tug at the traces and balk a little at the instigation of some particular "reform" foisted on them by their leaders, in a short time their objections become half-hearted and eventually they knuckle down with an air of resignation and an attitude of "what's the use?" From that point on it is but a short step to complete forgetfulness of the original issue and each time that happens they are further softened up for additional and more drastic experiments.

These criticisms have nothing whatsoever to do with the question of national defense. Nearly every patriotic American agrees that an adequate defense program is necessary to the welfare of this country. But defense—"what sins are committed in thy name!" Also one shudders to think of what sins are yet to be committed in the name of "unlimited" national emergency.

The specious argument is used that in this newly announced "emergency" we must all cease our objections and give our whole-hearted coöperation to Uncle Sam, Uncle Sam in this case meaning FDR, Knox, Stimson, et al. They say it is the only patriotic thing to do. Perhaps so; but in our opinion it is more patriotic to try to keep this country from embracing the same kind of government that Germany and Italy have today.

From now on the slogan recommended by the administration is "Throw away your hammer and get a horn." That slogan is all right when it concerns the vital issues of national defense; used as a smoke screen to hide the establishment of national socialism and complete dictatorship in this country, we have come to a different conclusion:

Never in the history of this country have we needed fewer horns or more hammers!

In modern war, if one isn't quick on the draw, one had better be quick on the withdrawal.—Indianapolis News.

FRONT VIEWS AND PROFILES

By June Provines

Fourth of July Night.

As the dark settled down on terrace and lake, rockets zoomed upward, blazing a golden path, and broke into delicate constellations of stars drifting downward. There was a moon, and the air was soft, yet fresh. Dinner had been eaten outdoors—steak broiled over a charcoal pit, new corn with quantities of butter, strawberry shortcake with plentiful cream. Lingering on the terrace over after-dinner coffee, we watched the Roman candles, and the colored balloons, and aerial bombs. A snub nosed little boy in a striped blazer near by was holding a sparkler, delight on his chubby countenance at these pyrotechnics at such close range.

Next year, newspapers and radio had announced, there would be no fireworks, because manufacturers are busy making signal flares and other military material for the government. As we watched the bright impermanent beauty traced against the sky, we suddenly felt the whole scene was anachronistic. We were living in a dreamlike past in which explosives were an expression of celebration of a freedom and security won forever. That time was over. We knew that we had lived thru an era, we, sitting there on the terrace, in a green linen coat over a pink and green print dress, a 1941 style hat on the lawn beside us, our hair brushed up from the ears, 1941 fashion.

JACKSON PARK ON A SUMMER NIGHT.

The shadows creep across the grass
To drive away the day;
Reluctantly the children pass,
Called homeward from their play;
The robin sits in leafy mass
And chants his evening lay.

And now, so softly comes the night,
The jeweled stars are fair;
Two lovers stroll, each face alight
With hopes and dreaming there;
The night wind in its gentle flight
Breathes over them a prayer.

MR. SMITH OF NLRB ON THE SPOT.

[Philadelphia Inquirer.]

The order by the federal Circuit court in Philadelphia to the National Labor Relations board to investigate the conduct of Edwin S. Smith, a member, in the Berkshire Knitting Mills case, is fully warranted by the known facts.

Testifying before a house investigating committee in December, 1939, Mr. Smith admitted that while a CIO union boycott against the Berkshire concern was in progress, he, tho a member of the NLRB, called the attention of an important customer to the boycott, suggesting that the customer exert pressure on the company.

The intimation that Smith was trying to spread the boycott was plain. The boycott which he admitted fostering was accompanied by a strike. Later the board ordered the company to reinstate several hundred strikers with back pay estimated at $600,000.

The record shows that after the strike had proceeded for five months, the labor board, at the request of the CIO union, withheld action for a time looking to a settlement. The reason was made clear by this memorandum from the regional director of the NLRB: "Status of case: Held in abeyance at request of union, pending possibility of a general strike." The union didn't want the first strike settled, but to have it continued until trouble was spread thruout the entire industry. As a result of the board's "coöperation" with the union, a week later a strike was called affecting all the hosiery mills in Berks county, except two that knuckled down to the union's demands.

The Circuit court now decrees that if the NLRB finds Mr. Smith to have "disqualified" himself to pass on the Berkshire case, then the other members must reconsider the action against the company. While it is unfortunate that the court did not determine this question itself, instead of leaving the board to adjudge the fitness of one of its own members, at least judicial cognizance has been taken of what appears on its face to have been a most flagrant abuse of official authority, pointing to a long-delayed reform—the dropping of Mr. Smith from the NLRB.

TERMITE TRAPS.

[New York Sun.]

Representative Engel of Michigan, who has charged that millions have been wasted in army camp construction, has not overlooked minor items. At Indiantown Gap, Pennsylvania, according to the Michigan representative, the army spent $15,000 for termite traps tho there stood on the site of the camp a wooden building erected in 1690 and still untouched by termites. The camp construction quartermaster's recommendation was that no termite traps be used, but this recommendation was overruled in Washington. Representative Engel's conclusion is that it was easier to spend the $15,000 for termite traps than it was to go thru the procedure of unwinding enough red tape to prevent the expenditure. What a pity it is that termites have no appetite for red tape!

CHASE THOSE WRINKLES.

THE pursuit of beauty is as old as womankind. There is ample evidence that cosmetics were in great demand in ancient times. Henna leaves were made into a paste and used to dye the hair and the nails. Complexion aids were routinely employed by the Egyptians and the custom spread to the Mediterranean countries.

Attractively decorated cheeks and tinted coiffures of red and yellow were the vogue. The eyes were not neglected and a green paint made from copper ore was laid about the optics. At the same time the lashes were darkened. There is scarcely an antique manuscript on medicine which failed to set forth rules for the adornment of the skin and the necessity for preserving a schoolgirl complexion.

In our day the art approaches a science. Women feel undressed without makeup. But their greatest problem is wrinkles. These corrugations come about when the subcutaneous fat absorbs. In consequence, the covering may hang in loose, flabby folds. One way to invite them is to reduce weight quickly. That is why a slower plan is urged which will preserve the smooth contour of the features, particularly about the neck.

To help ward off these furrows and creases, assisting the blood flow to the parts and aiding the capillaries to adjust themselves to the needs of the tissues is the program advised. Furthermore, the muscles can be maintained in better tone. All of the following exercises may be carried out by the patient herself.

Start with a thoro cleansing, which will empty the outlets of the sebaceous glands. Anoint the fingers with a thin layer of cocoabutter. With the digits of both hands on the center of the forehead stroke toward the temples, using gentle pressure.

Place the palms over the cheekbones and massage upward and backward with a slight rotary motion.

Grasp the chin with the thumb and first finger and travel toward the lobes of the ears along the jaw line. In the same manner knead the tissues with the tips of the fingers. The final stroke is outward and upward to the front of the ears.

Smooth the skin of the forehead upward from the eyebrows toward the hair and from one temple to another.

The upper lip must not be neglected. Pressure beneath the nose is exerted outward, straight across the face.

Continue these maneuvers for 10 minutes. Follow by patting each cheek in turn and the region beneath the chin. The blows should be gentle, not stinging, but brisk enough to bring new blood to the surface. The same treatment is then applied to the forehead. This is preferred to the use of a mechanical vibrator, altho there is no objection to this type of instrument.

What is the value of steaming packs of various sorts? Towels wrung out of very hot water may be tested carefully so that burning will not occur, and the entire neck, chin, and face may be covered, leaving the nostrils free for breathing. The process may continue for 10 minutes, with a fresh pack every two or three minutes.

The effect is to loosen the greasy plugs and bring fresh circulation to the surface. This is especially beneficial to oily skin, altho one that is dry may be treated in the same manner if a light coating of cold cream is first applied. Subsequently, the pores should be allowed to contract before cold cream or some astringent mixture [such as tincture of benzoin] is used.

Women can be young at 50; yes, at 60—and pictures of health at 70. But the one who devotes but little time to her personal appearance is bound to show it. Beauty culture should be a part of the daily chore.

THE PRESIDENT DELIVERS A MESSAGE

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

WERE STALIN'S PRISONERS.

Lithuanian Legation, Washington, D. C., July 3.—I note an article by Donald Day in THE TRIBUNE of June 28.

Mr. Day says: "The Kaunas, Lithuania, radio announced that Prof. Augustinas Woldemaras, a former premier of Lithuania, has been freed, together with all political prisoners who were confined in Kaunas prison under the dictatorship of President Antanas Smetona."

I would appreciate space for the following:

In the first place, President Smetona is no dictator. His political philosophy, as I understand it, is based on the idea of a conservative democracy and necessity of a stable government. The constitutional law sponsored by him does contain basic democratic principles. His ministers belong to various political groups.

Secondly, President Smetona left Lithuania on June 15, 1940, the day of soviet Russia's invasion of Lithuania. As the communist party was illegal in Lithuania, a comparatively small number of soviet agents [communists] were kept in prison at that time. Naturally, these were released by the soviet invaders. Whether or not all prisoners of the legal government of Lithuania were released by the soviet régime of occupation at that time is not known, altho it is safe to presume that some persons did not merit "bolshevik benevolence" and were left to stay in prison. But it is a well known fact that the soviet régime of occupation arrested thousands of Lithuanian patriots and kept them in prisons and subjected them to the most inhuman treatment. It is obvious that Mr. Day's report from Helsinki had reference to prisoners of the Red régime and not to the previous legitimate régime.

As for Prof. Woldemaras: He returned unexpectedly from abroad soon after the soviet invasion of Lithuania and was immediately arrested by the Reds and kept imprisoned until now. It is self-evident that the crimes of the soviet Russian régime cannot be ascribed to the constitutional government of Lithuania headed by President Smetona. Therefore, the last sentence of Mr. Day's article should read thus: "Prisoners who were confined in Kaunas prison by dictatorship of Josef Stalin were now released by Lithuanian insurgents against soviet tyranny."

P. ZADEIKIS,
Minister of Lithuania.

OUR NOSEY DIPLOMATS.

Chicago, June 30.—International diplomacy has always seemed to me to be pretty much the gossiping, backbiting department of all departments. If our gallivanting gossips and intriguers have, with their nosey interest in our remote neighbors' business, contributed to bringing on the present European holocaust, does not consistency require that we now keep aloof and reap the profits of such perfidy?

We are now giving her $7,000,000,000 or a grand total of $12,000,000,000, which divided by 165 years makes a cost of $72,727,272 a year. Can this still be taxation without representation?

"SUCKERS?" HERE'S WHY.

Palestine, Ill., July 3.—From Knoxville, Tenn., comes J. W. Elliott wanting to know why our state of Illinois has been called the "Sucker" state.

Here's the answer, according to Oliver W. Gogin, who says he "lived and moved and had his being with the suckers in the backwoods of Illinois in the 1840s. I quote from his book, "The Country Jake."

"Thus by experience we learned the odd customs of the Suckers, as these people were called. In answer to the question as to how this name became attached to them, the reply was, that in 'airly times, the fust settlers found that water was moughty skase in the Illinoise country, and when thusty you would hunt for a hollow weed and by a-pushin' the weed down a crawfish hole [of which thar was a God's plenty] you could make a sucker connection a-twixt your mouth and the water at the bottom of the crawfish hole.'

"Thus the name of 'Sucker' still applies to both people and state."

In case any one is further interested, may I add that this book is full of charming folklore. JOSEPHINE WILBER.

VOTE AGAINST WAR.

Glencoe, Ill., July 1.—We don't know whether we will be given an opportunity to vote on your war ballot, but please record us as being opposed to participation in any European war.

SUBURBANITES.

Freeport, Ill., July 3.—As I didn't receive one of your polling cards on war, let me answer here. Absolutely no sending of our boys abroad to war. It is enough to drain our country of its wealth without soaking European soil with the boys' blood. C. H. B.

Chicago, July 3.—Double crossing among European war lords appears to have become unanimous.

The news of the week should be a warning to Uncle Shylock to watch his step lest he win a revision of his foreign nickname—Uncle Softguy.

LUXURIES FROM ENGLAND.

Chicago, July 3.—It burns me up to see in Chicago stores a table of jams, preserves, and things of that sort, displayed with an "Imported from England" sign.

If they are rationing food, and if they can't transport arms because of submarines and must have convoys, how in the name of common sense can they get these luxuries over here? We dumb Americans! E. T.

AT THE PRESIDENT'S SIDE?

Chicago, July 2.—Lindbergh's address in THE TRIBUNE today should be pounded into the heads of our war mongers.

Our President would make history, if he would let Charles Lindbergh sit by his side. G. E. E.

BICYCLES ON SIDEWALKS.

Chicago, July 2.—Some time ago the sidewalks of the city were so taken up with children on bicycles that something pleasant degenerated into a dangerous nuisance. After some one was severely injured, a determined drive was on. For a while thereafter it was possible to walk along without great fear of being run into any moment. Children yielded the right of way to pedestrians. But gradually enforcement and fear wore off. Now we have the same old condition. To those children who are by nature and lack of training inconsiderate have been added others, grown into bicycle riding age since the last enforcement, who are not aware that pedestrians come first and bicycles second, if at all.

From all directions came bicycles—racing along, weaving in and out and thru sidewalk traffic made up of baby buggies, tiny tots holding to young mothers' hands, heedless window shoppers, aged, and all. Soon again the inevitable will happen: A serious injury, a tiny baby crippled for life, some one killed.

Why wait? Why not warn sidewalk bicycle riders now that pedestrians come first at all times.

ESTATE ADMINISTRATION.

Chicago, July 3 [Legal Friend of the People].—Six years ago my father died leaving a big estate between three daughters and my brother-in-law as caretaker. My two sisters are older than I am and therefore think I have no rights.

When I ask to see the property books [1] they are fierce, saying they aren't robbing any one.

2. Instead they pass me up with a piece of paper that has no meaning; figures that I don't understand.

3. Now this property is sold and the person who bought the property has to pay with cash.

4. Does this take long? Must I wait a long time to be paid off?

5. Should I stay in this place [I am living on the property sold] until I get paid off? F. K.

1. We see no reason why they should take such an attitude if the matter has been properly handled. You should insist on getting all of the facts.

2. If they have given you a report then we cannot pass upon its sufficiency without seeing it.

3. Their power to sell without your joining would depend on the wording of the will.

4. We are not in a position to predict how long.

5. We cannot advise as to your rights without having the wording as to the will. If, as you state, a substantial amount is involved, then we advise you to have a personal interview with an attorney.

HOMEWARD RUSH SHOWS UP FLAWS IN ROAD SYSTEM

Plane Spots Jamming on Narrow Highways.

BY HAL FOUST.

(Map on back page.)

A three day travel record was climaxed last night by a homeward rush that crowded highways and filled trains and buses. The incoming multitude taxed pavement and rail facilities from early afternoon until well after midnight.

A survey by airplane during the hours preceding sunset found strings of automobiles, in files like ants, on concrete radiating from Chicago. Most of the movement was city bound, altho the traffic leaving the city was appreciable.

The air view was a picture of a highway system with terminals of the broad pavements too close to the city. There have been few extensions of the four lane routes in the last eight years. The holiday crowds emphasized this weakness in the metropolitan road map.

Almost All Alike.

On almost all of the main radial routes, the scenes viewed from the plane were similar. Where the highways accommodated four lanes, large volumes of traffic were moving fairly expeditiously. Beyond, where the routes were two lanes wide, cars were bunched, a half dozen to a dozen or more behind a slow driver or a truck, the majority delayed in passing, with a few taking chances.

At 4:45 p. m., these bunches were seen on a narrow section of U. S. 66 northeast of Plainfield. Ten minutes later, a similar situation was seen on Lincoln highway northwest of Joliet; the traffic volume was not as heavy but the breaks in the narrow pavement were apparent from a 2,000 foot elevation, a contrast to Indiana's modernized Lincoln highway.

South of Joliet, a heavy movement in both directions was witnessed on the narrow, old pavement, now alternate U. S. 66, which has a high fatality record. Beyond Wilmington to Gardner, alternate U. S. 66 and new U. S. 66 parallel on opposite sides of railroad tracks, each carrying in two directions traffic volumes too heavy for safety on a narrow slab.

Cars Shun U. S. 34.

West and south of Aurora, at 5:12 p. m., it appeared that motorists were avoiding the narrow and winding U. S. 34. The traffic was comparatively light.

West of Geneva and St. Charles, homeward bound Chicagoans were encountering delays and annoyances in trying to pass slow traffic on the narrow pavement winding thru gentle hills. East of these Fox valley cities, North avenue and Roosevelt road are 40 feet wide, wide enough altho lacking center dividers for safety.

At 5:33 p. m. the survey watched drivers desperately ducking in and out of lines of cars on the narrow, meandering Lake street highway, which doesn't broaden until southeast of Elgin. At 5:40 p. m. Higgins road appeared to be shunned because of its narrowness.

Northwest highway at 5:45 was carrying a heavy load. At Barrington, just before the city bound crowds reached four lane pavement, there was a blockade behind an intersection stop light.

Like Strings of Beads.

From a high elevation over McHenry, Fox Lake, and Libertyville, the narrow roads toward Chicago were dotted like broken strings of beads. At Wauconda there was a string about a mile long in Rand road approaching at intersection with Illinois 176. At Lake Zurich the Rand road crowds eased into a four lane pavement of the modern, divided design.

In Lake county within sight of Lake Michigan the divided four lane roadway of Skokie road was carrying almost twice the holiday load seen at the old 40 foot single slab of Waukegan road. This was at 6:50 p. m. The light was getting hazy for air photography and the plane was headed for the Chicago airport.

After sundown and into the night the Tribune road car found these situations were being repeated, under the driving handicap of darkness.

LAWES RETIRES AS SING SING PRISON WARDEN

In Post 21 Years; Plans Writing.

Ossining, N. Y., July 6 (AP).—Warden Lewis E. Lawes, one of the nation's best known penologists, resigned today as head of Sing Sing prison.

Lewis E. Lawes.

Lawes, who is 57 years old, has been Sing Sing warden since 1920. In a letter to John A. Lyons, state commissioner of correction, Lawes asked to be relieved of duties July 16. He is eligible to a pension of $6,000 a year.

"After 36 years and two months of service in the prison and correction department of New York and a 21 year 6 month record as warden of Sing Sing prison," Lawes wrote, "I should like to be free to devote myself to many causes which have long interested me."

Lawes, who said his health is excellent, explained that he planned to do some writing and lecturing on prison problems and was considering two university offers and others from radio and motion picture companies.

A former president of the Wardens' Association of America and of the American Prison association, he began his career as a guard in Clinton prison, in Dannemora. He was warden of the New York City reformatory in New Hampton when former Gov. Alfred E. Smith appointed him to Sing Sing over the objections of politicians.

At that time there were 20 or 30 escapes a year from the prison, convict riots were frequent, and wardens lasted an average of 11 months.

Lawes immediately began to humanize the prison, introducing football, radio, and motion picture shows for the convicts and pressing for the erection of better cell quarters. Altho he handled 36,750 prisoners, there were only two violent escapes and they were 21 years apart.

Lawes superintended the execution of 303 convicts, including four women, but in his five books on prison life and criminology he often expressed his opposition to capital punishment and never saw an inmate actually die in the electric chair; at the last moment he always turned his back.

A strong believer in social rehabilitation and crime prevention, Lawes has given much effort to the Boys' clubs of America. His policy was to deal fairly but firmly with imprisoned men.

RAF'S NON-STOP BLOWS AT NAZIS GROW IN MIGHT

Big Squadrons Blast War Plants of Germany.

LONDON, July 6 (AP).—The RAF steadily increased the weight of its nonstop assault on German held territory today by sending more heavy bombers into daylight raids and long range, lampblacked fighter bombers to hit German air bases by moonlight.

Sunday crowds along the south coast of England saw two huge flights of British planes cross the channel during the morning and afternoon and disappear in the haze high over Calais.

Many squadrons of fighters darted about the bombers, which had the freight train roar of extraheavy craft. There appeared to be more heavy bombers than have been used in most of the attacks since the nonstop assault began June 16.

Strike at Factories.

During the night and early today the main British night bomber force struck at munitions factories and steel works in western Germany. Meanwhile, American made twin motored Douglas fighter-bombers hit at German air fields in occupied France.

The air ministry reported that one Douglas bombed runways, searchlights, and buildings of an "important" German air field.

Madgeburg, capital of the German province of Saxony and site of a branch of the Krupp munition works, was among the targets bombed by the RAF during the night. Others were Muenster, Osnabruck, Bielefeld, docks at Rotterdam and Den Helder.

A German ship of about 3,000 tons and another of about 800 tons were reported bombed off the coast of Norway. Other bombers hit barges off the Netherlands coast.

Claim 14 Planes Downed.

BERLIN, July 6 (AP).—Germany announced today destruction of 14 British planes while acknowledging that her civilians "suffered considerable losses in dead and wounded" from RAF raids last night.

"Residential sections and public buildings were hit in Muenster and Bielefeld," a communique said. "Night fighters shot down seven of the attacking British planes."

The high command listed no German aircraft losses for the war in the west thru yesterday, but said that five other British planes were destroyed over the English channel and two in the region of Norway.

DNB, official news agency, adding to the high command's count of planes shot down yesterday and last night, said 17 British planes were destroyed today along the channel coast.

ARMY IS TRYING OUT A GIGANTIC MOBILE BAKERY

A 19 ton mobile bakery, designed to turn out 4,000 loaves of bread daily while rolling along behind troops in battle, was put thru its paces for the army at Fort Sheridan yesterday.

The bakery resembles an abbreviated freight train, consisting of a truck cab, a semitrailer, and a special long trailer, all running on a total of 22 wheels. Inside are a mixer, which can stir up 150 pounds of dough at a time, a dough trough, a 250 gallon water tank, an automatic molder, pans, raising compartments, and a revolving oven.

The bakery soon will be taken to Camp Lee, Va., where experiments in mountainous terrain probably will determine whether it will become standard equipment for the army. Maj. William R. MacKinnon, commander of the cooking and baking school of the 6th corps area, and fellow officers, were credited with designing the gigantic bakery, which was constructed in Chicago.

QUALITY—THE CORNERSTONE

No ceremonies occurred to mark the occasion, but long before foundations for the Marshall Field & Company store were laid on State Street, quality was built into the structure of the business. It can no more be removed now than the building cornerstones.

We intend to keep Marshall Field quality what it always has been; the best obtainable for any price—great or small. Times being what they are, it is more difficult to maintain accustomed quality. The easiest way is to let quality—and the customer—take care of themselves, but that has never been our way, and we refuse to change at this late date.

Our obligation is to deliver quality at a fair and reasonable price. It is an obligation we shall continue to meet in spite of world conditions.

THRILL SHOW! IT'S SUNDAY, AND FIRE TOWER IS UP NOW

Preparation for Pageant Moves Rapidly Ahead.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

The American flag was raised majestically yesterday over the six story fire tower that is being built for the fourth annual Chicago Police and Fire Thrill show, to be presented next Sunday afternoon in Soldiers' field.

The flag raising celebrated the completion of the steel framework of the great structure where picked men of the fire department will make daring rescues with the slide for life and the life nets, and perform their marvels of pompier ladder wall scaling.

Around the tower the mighty water towers and lofty aerial trucks will assemble in one of the show's most spectacular dramas—the fight against the flames—in which the firemen will battle against a conflagration at dizzy heights.

Honor of Raising the Flag.

The honor of raising the flag went to Joe Zito, the foreman in charge of construction. Lieut. William P. Hughes and his fire department squad 8 helped hoist the flagpole into position for the ceremony.

Chief John L. Sullivan of the detective bureau told a radio audience the plans for the crime fights yesterday on W-G-N. He and Lieut. Kyran Phelan will direct the two spectacles —The Stage Coach Robbery and The Midnight Gang's Last Stand—presented by the city and park police.

Chief Sullivan took part in a radio preview of the show with John Prendergast, chief of the city's uniformed police; Chief Roger Shanahan of the park police; Anthony J. Mullaney, first deputy chief fire marshal; James M. Gleason, automotive engineer of the fire department; Harry M. O'Rourke, executive secretary of the show committee, and John Balek and Anthony Comiskey, two of the daredevils of the motorcycle police stunt riders.

Triumph for Chorus.

Anthony J. (Tony) Corcoran and his new Firemen Choristers, who will sing at the show, won a triumph in their first appearance. The singers were accompanied by Jane Anderson of W-G-N, in a program arranged by Howdee Meyers.

Choristers in the broadcast were William Dolan, Raleigh Davis, Lieut. Thomas Mulloy, William H. Siemund, Patrick Cronin, Ray Burke, John Haggerty, Robert William Martin, Joseph J. Dousa, Battalion Chief Arthur J. Brady, Jacob Tiggelaar, and Oscar A. Irion.

Chief Mullaney has made 10,000 more choice seats available for this year's show by placing the engine house and other buildings necessary for the drama of heroism further to the north of the field. Last year a crowd of 80,000 filled the stands. Seats may be bought at 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children at the Tribune public service office, Madison and Dearborn streets, and at Gate O, the south entrance to Soldiers' field.

In 1893 he was one of the organizers of the Inland firm, now one of the largest independent steel producers. He was the company's second president, serving in that capacity for eight years and in other executive positions until 1921. Since then he had remained a director.

New Enterprise at 65.

At the age of 65 he began a new enterprise—the Hillside Fluorspar Mines, producing this vital ingredient of steel manufacture at Rosiclare, Ill. Mr. Jones was 71 years old when he started the Pershing Quicksilver Co. Until his death he was president of these companies and of the Mid-West Forging Co., which he took over when his only son, Harold, died some years ago.

His first important philanthropy was the giving of at least $650,000 to establish the George Herbert Jones laboratory for chemical research at the University of Chicago. A friend of the family said yesterday that the exact amounts of his various gifts were not always known because "he didn't let his left hand know what his right hand was doing when it came to giving."

Hospital Nears Completion.

After several years as a trustee of the Wesley Memorial hospital, Jones in 1936 gave the first of several blocks of Inland Steel stock which brought his gifts for this institution up to approximately $3,000,000. The money was used in building the handsome hospital now nearing completion on the Chicago campus of Northwestern university.

Recently Gov. Green participated in ground breaking ceremonies for a building to be constructed with money contributed by Jones at the self-help Blackburn college at Carlinville, Ill. Jones also built the Harold Colbert Jones Memorial Community center at Chicago Heights in 1937 and added a floor to the British Old People's home.

Surviving is his daughter, Mrs. Ruth Jones Jarratt. Jones' wife, Myrtilla, who died in 1928, was a daughter of Prof. Elias Colbert, who was city editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE before the turn of the century.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the First Methodist church, 77 West Washington street. Burial at Rosehill cemetery will be private.

LeRoy Maloney, 22 years old, of 3619 North Lotus avenue, died yesterday in Belmont hospital of burns received Saturday when a spark from an electric motor ignited gasoline fumes in a grease pit which Maloney was cleaning in a filling station at 4550 Addison street. Another attendant at the station, Robert Schroeder, of 4838 Cornelia avenue, extinguished the flames in Maloney's burning clothing and took him to the hospital.

HOLD SERVICES TOMORROW FOR HELEN M. BLISS

Services for Mrs. Helen Marie Bliss, a lifelong resident of Chicago and suburbs who died Saturday in her Evanston home, will be held at 1 p. m. tomorrow in St. Peter's Episcopal church, 621 Belmont avenue. Burial will be in Oak Woods cemetery. Mrs. Bliss was the widow of Col. Samuel Eugene Bliss, Chicago sportsman and founder of Bliss and Laughlin, Inc., steel manufacturers.

After the death of Col. Bliss' first wife, he and the former Helen Weck, who had been his secretary, were married in 1920. At that time she was 44 years old and he was 72. Bliss died Oct. 28, 1921, and left his $2,000,000 estate to his widow. The will was the subject of a court suit in 1924, when Bliss' heirs sought to prove that the steel magnate's secretary of 14 years had won his affections by appealing to his penchant for economy. She even cooked lunch in his office to "beat" cafeteria prices, it was charged. The suit later was dropped, and Mrs. Bliss reportedly gave the heirs a $200,000 settlement.

Mrs. Bliss leaves a sister, Mrs. Willa Sanborn, and three brothers, Elmer E. Weck, William A. Weck, and Warren F. Weck.

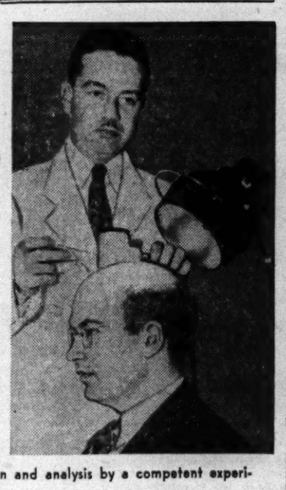
John E. Warner says, "SORRY I CAN'T HELP YOU"



John E. Warner Associates cannot help this man because he waited too long. In spite of the claims of various "hair growers"—baldness is a permanent condition except in very rare cases. To the man who is losing his hair—and wants to avoid baldness, John E. Warner Associates offer:

1. A free private scalp examination and analysis by a competent experienced expert.
2. No false or misleading claims or promises are made by Warner treatment—and we do not use high pressure sales tactics.
3. The assurance that your case will not be accepted for treatment unless beneficial results are certain.
4. An advanced scientific form of treatment which has successfully saved and improved the hair of thousands of men. Each case is treated individually and in complete privacy.
5. A reasonable fee, payable as the treatments are taken. We have enough confidence in our service that we do not ask you to pay in advance or sign any agreement to take a series of treatments.
6. One of the largest and best equipped offices of this kind in the world. The same John E. Warner Associates' treatment and service which has proven so successful in Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Detroit.
7. The honest advertising of a worthwhile service.

If your hair and scalp show the symptoms of approaching baldness such as very dry, itchy scalp, dandruff and excessive falling hair you SHOULD arrange to save your hair while you still have hair to save. The new offices of the John E. Warner Associates in Chicago are conveniently located, suite 1320-24 North American Bldg., 36 S. State, northwest corner of State and Monroe, phone Central 1451. There is a separate department for women.

5 OF EVERY 100 IN ILLINOIS GET RELIEF CHECKS

11 Per Cent Receiving Some Kind of Aid.

Five out of every 100 persons in Illinois are receiving general relief checks every month from the Illinois Emergency Relief commission as compared with 15 out of every 100 persons six years ago, a study of IERC monthly bulletins reveals.

In April, the last month tabulated by the IERC, relief checks were mailed to 401,488 persons, or 5.1 per cent of the state's population. The peak month since citizens became eligible for relief was March, 1935, when 1,183,340 persons—15.5 per cent of the state's residents—were given this form of direct aid.

Four Other Kinds.

But general relief is only one of five forms of public assistance in Illinois. The other four—WPA, old age assistance, mothers' pensions, and pensions for the blind—raise the state total of persons receiving some form of relief to 884,095, or 11.2 per cent of the state's population. This figure has been reduced, however, from 1,330,109—17.4 per cent of the population—two years ago.

Cook county reduced its general relief rolls by 66,075 during the last four years, while the downstate counties chopped off only 36,777 persons. The following table gives a fuller picture of how downstate Illinois is lagging behind Cook county in the reduction of relief rolls. Percentages of total population are given.

	Cook County.		Downstate.
April, 1937	251,147	6.3%	253,153	6.9%
April, 1938	294,206	7.4%	307,268	8.4%
April, 1939	299,008	7.5%	274,241	7.5%
April, 1940	226,253	5.7%	222,679	6.1%
April, 1941	185,272	4.6%	216,376	5.6%
Reduction.	66,075		36,777

Age Payments Rise.

While state direct relief rolls decreased, old age assistance payments have gone up, both in number and monetary benefits. In the last year payments on old age assistance show an increase of 5.2 per cent in number and a boost of 16.7 per cent in payments.

Recipients of mothers' and blind pensions varied only slightly in the last two years, but persons receiving old age assistance increased 15,577 from April, 1939, to April, 1941.

Comparative old age assistance, mothers' pensions, and blind pensions figures in Illinois in the last three years:

	Old age assistance.	Mothers' pensions.	Blind pensions.
April, 1939	129,582	17,477	7,789
April, 1940	137,983	17,076	7,689
April, 1941	145,139	16,537	7,606

WPA Rolls Decline.

State WPA rolls meanwhile have shown a decline. The following table shows the number of persons [workers plus estimated members of their families] dependent upon WPA checks in the last three years:

	April, '39.	April, '40.	April, '41.
Illinois	679,915	336,580	343,335
Cook county	543,022	193,853	349,169
Downstate	340,933	126,515	214,418

In the two year period Cook county reduced its WPA workers by 193,853, while the downstate county rolls dropped by 126,515.

DEWEY REPORTS CONVICTIONS IN 94.7% OF CASES

New York, July 6 (AP).—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey reported today that 94.7 per cent of the criminals prosecuted by his office in 1940 were convicted or pleaded guilty and asserted that it was essential for American law enforcement agencies to prove to the world that Americans can be both efficient and free.

"We know," he declared in a foreword to his third annual report, "that our institutions will live long after the dictators have been devoured by their own corruption."

The conviction average, the report said, was the highest mark reached in New York county's war on crime as far back as General Sessions court records are available. Of 2,756 persons prosecuted in the highest city criminal court, 2,610 were convicted or entered guilty pleas, the report said.

BOAT ACCIDENTS CLAIM THE LIVES OF 3 CHICAGOANS

Three Chicagoans drowned in boating accidents yesterday.

On Long lake, in Lake county, a boat capsized, throwing Harry Alexander, 38 years old, 2136 North Winchester avenue, and four children into the water. He drowned, as did Dolores Zichmiller, 10, of 1756 West 18th place. The other children were saved by bathers.

John Dziecharski, 48, a sausage maker, whose Chicago address was not learned, drowned when he fell from a boat in Silver lake, 25 miles west of Kenosha, Wis.

After Joseph Sprhalski, 22, of 3126 South 53d court, Cicero, fell out of a boat in Bangs lake, Wauconda, he was carried 500 feet to shore by Joseph Waski, 21, of 3240 South 53d court, Cicero. Dr. J. A. Ross of Wauconda revived Sprhalski.

Louis Haller, 19, of St. Louis, Mo., drowned off Kenilworth when he fell out of an inflated inner tube in which he was paddling. The body wasn't recovered. Haller was visiting Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Miller, 6138 Odell avenue, Chicago.

Nampa, Idaho, July 6 (AP).—Charles G. Martin, 39 years old, instructor for Nampa flying service, and Arthur C. Pease, 33, of Boise, a student pilot, were killed today in the crash of their light training plane.

LEHMAN URGES MILK STRIKERS TO SEEK U. S. HELP

Albany, N. Y., July 6 (AP).—Gov. Herbert H. Lehman [D.] today urged striking dairymen of three states to seek an immediate government hearing on their pleas for higher prices, and expressed hope of an early termination of a six-day milk stoppage that has sharply curtailed New York City's supply.

The governor had held a four hour conference with spokesmen representing 55,000 dairymen in New York, Pennsylvania, and Vermont.

Lehman urged the dairymen to utilize the federal-state price fixing law which permits producers to petition the government for a hearing and determination of price increases, and cautioned "any other course must be harmful to them in the long run."

Mrs. Bonnie Andrews, 5200 Sheridan road, reported to the police yesterday that a sneak thief entered her home and stole a purse containing $1 and a ring worth $550.

U. S. PRISON DIRECTOR OPENS LEAVENWORTH STRIKE INQUIRY TODAY

Leavenworth, Kas., July 6 [Special].—J. V. Bennett, director of the bureau of federal prisons, is expected at the federal penitentiary here tomorrow to start an investigation of the sitdown strike of 1,100 convicts.

Bennett instructed Warden Robert H. Hudspeth not to resume prison factory operations until after the investigation. The strikers, who are employed in the manufacture of shoes and brushes for the army, seek pay increases, overtime, and additional allowances for good behavior.

Sunday was observed in a routine manner. Chapel services were conducted and all of the 2,454 prisoners, except 20 under discipline as rule breakers, were permitted to enjoy the afternoon recreation period.

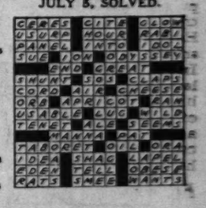
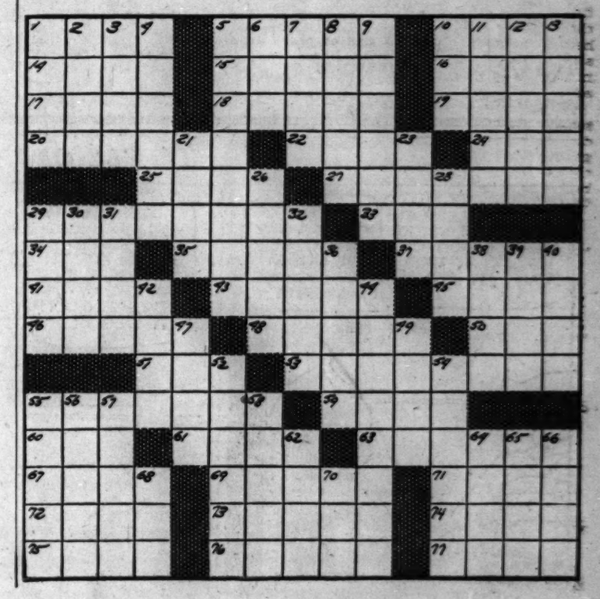
PUZZLE OF SATURDAY, JULY 5, SOLVED.





Children Need Contemporary Companions

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

It is essential for children to have at least some play with other children of their own age. So many mothers write to me, saying that their girl or boy has no companionship now that the schools have closed, because there are no other children in the immediate neighborhood.

If you have no play group in your section or vicinity, why not create one in coöperation with other mothers you know, or perhaps thru your social or church affiliations?

In general, I think the wisest plan would be to gather the children together in a given place two or three days a week, the mothers taking turns in supervising the group. This will insure a certain amount of freedom for each mother so that she may do her work, or find some relaxation without the children. Each child should bring his own playthings and materials for amusement which he or she may exchange with the others. Other materials and books may be supplied. Apparatus may be added, if feasible—either homemade or built under supervision at small cost.

The essential thing is to see to it that each child is occupied and interested. Then let the youngsters alone just as much as possible. The less management by the adult in charge, the better. Of course, the children won't always agree, but it's best to let them straighten things out themselves unless the conflict become too great. This teaches them the give and take of life.

According to CULBERTSON

Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.

There is one call which cannot be "monkeyed with" unless the experimenter is prepared to pay a stiff price. I refer to a take out double, specifically to West's take out double in the following hand:

South, dealer.
East-West vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ 8 6 3
♥ J 9 5
♦ J 8 4
♣ A K J 3

WEST
♠ K J 10 7 4 2
♥ None
♦ A Q 6 3
♣ 10 8 5

EAST
♠ Q
♥ Q 8 4 3
♦ 9 7 5 2
♣ Q 6 4 2

SOUTH
♠ A 9 5
♥ A K 10 7 6 2
♦ K 10
♣ 9 7

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Double	Pass	2 clubs
2 hearts	2 spades	3 hearts	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	Pass	Double
Redouble	Pass	Pass	Pass

West's double of one heart was, of course, atrocious. His hand warranted no better than a spade overcall. On the next round of bidding, West felt obligated to show the suit he had neglected to show previously. However, from his partner's point of view these were two separate, strong bids. I am not excusing East's final penalty double which, to my mind, was much too close, but it is easy to see that East was highly impressed by his partner's show of strength and probably felt that his length in hearts and shortness in spades would prove annoying to the enemy.

As a matter of fact, the contract could have been defeated one trick if West had opened spades. On the actual club opening, however, dummy won, the hearts were picked up, the other high club was cashed, and a third round ruffed, until this situation was reached:

♠ 8 6
♥ None
♦ J 8 4
♣ J

WEST
♠ K J 10 7
♥ None
♦ A Q
♣ None

♠ Q
♥ None
♦ 9 7 5 2
♣ Q

SOUTH
♠ A 9 5
♥ 10
♣ None

At this point the lead of the last heart made it impossible for West to discard safely. To blank the diamond ace would merely invite declarer to lead the low diamond, thus establishing the diamond king. Actually, West threw away a spade. Thereupon declarer led the ace and another spade and West, after he had collected his two spade tricks, had to lead the ace and queen of diamonds.

If the ace of spades had been driven out on the first lead, declarer would have been helpless to avoid the loss of two spade tricks and two diamonds. This, however, involved a sheer guess on West's part. His error was not in his unfortunate choice of leads, but in his initial bid, which led to such a huge score for the opponents.

Tomorrow's Hand.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

"I love my bride—but, O, you outboard motor . . .!" may be said to be the theme song of this comedy drama.

"Reaching for the Sun" is very entertaining for a good part of the time. But it has stretches where inanity and incredibility combat your interest, and so I can't hand it an honor society emblem much as I'd like to.

The co-stars, Ellen Drew and Joel McCrea, are as you know, a clean-cut, handsome and able pair, pretty sure to get the best out of any rôle they draw. And here they live up to expectations. Mr. McCrea is seen as a clam-digging Michigan woodsman whose yearning to own an outboard motor—which shall facilitate his clam-digging progress—leads him to Detroit where, he has heard, large wages are to be had for working in an automobile factory.

Here he finds funds for a motor—and THE GIRL. The girl, however, has none of the woodsman instinct. She wants to stay right in Detroit. . . . So—for a time in Detroit remain young Mr. and Mrs. Elliott AND the motor and Russ' faithful pal, Benny Morgan, who lives with the Elliotts AND the motor and tries to smooth over rifts caused BY the motor. . . .

Lots of things happen before Mrs. Elliott is converted to the Great Outdoors idea, but when she goes primitive—she does it wholeheartedly. . . .

The picture has many laughs and one exciting episode during which Russ and an enemy, Herman, fight a new sort of duel using giant machines as weapons.

Eddie Bracken—he has the cutest face!—makes the audience all his own from his first entrance to his last. Albert Dekker is a convincing devil as the demon factory worker. Bodil Rosing is quietly convincing as the heroine's mother and Regis Toomey has a brief, bright bit as an intern. Other rôles are well handled and the director gave the film the best he had which was pretty good.

I guess, thinking it over, "Reaching for the Sun" will do all-il right.

See you soon.

Free Ice Fund Is Summer Aid to Needy Folk

Folks who need only remember to plug in the electric refrigerator in order to have ice thru the hot summertime, sometimes forget that there are thousands of persons living in Chicago who do not have any ice, no matter how great the need. But the United Charities hear from these needy persons every day.

For instance, one woman writes on a page of ruled paper from a child's notebook: "Dear Sir: I have to live by means of public relief. I have six children, three boys and three girls. I spoke to my worker about some ice and she said they haven't been ordered to give allowances for ice yet. So I told her I would write to you for some ice. I can't keep anything at all. Everything spoils. My baby's food is all spoiled. He is one year old and on the bottle. So if you would send me some ice, I will be very much pleased. I have no husband. I am a lone woman. I am just barely getting along on the little help they give me."

Donations from Tribune readers for the ice fund have brought the total to $311.30. Yesterday's contributions included $50, anonymous; $25, William Ryan; $5, Mrs. Edwin G. Foreman, and $2 from B. A. L. The addition of $50 anonymously given and $25 from William Ryan for the Camp Algonquin fund makes the total $406.46. If you can contribute to either fund, please send your gifts to the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

Crocheted Wheel Medallion

Here is another version of the crocheted wheel medallion which is destined for immediate popularity. It is easy to create, since the medallions are joined together in lengths and then assembled to form a tablecloth. This same design may be used for dresser scarfs, luncheon sets, or antimacassars.

Looking at Hollywood by John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., July 6.—Sunday—A year ago today I first began filing these dispatches. The questions people ask are the same they asked 51 weeks ago: "Do you like it out here?" "Do you still like it out here?" "Do you like it out here any better?" And "Do you like it out here yet?" The answer is "Yes." . . . Poor Hollywood! It's the most sensitive community in the country, always worrying about somebody liking it. It's like a pup which has often been beaten, approaching somebody with wriggles and waggles and hoping that this time it will be petted. . . . But, after a year at this observation post, I am glad I am not working in the movies, even tho the wages are much higher than a newspaper man's. The cinema is the most brutally competitive great industry, and the struggle for option renewals is more primitive and dirtier than a rough house in a lumber camp. . . . Well, a morning's work today, and in the afternoon to the Paul Gallico's for a glass of punch. A game of Indications develops and I am counted out because I cannot act out "Strictly Dishonorable" so that anybody understands it.

Monday—To the airport to put my two ladies on a ship to Denver and then about some desk work. In the evening to take the G. Reids on a visiting fireman's tour—dinner at Lawry's, then down to Olvera street, the ancient Mexican honky-tonk alley; then thru the imposing railroad station, where you have to walk seeming miles to catch a train, and finally to the Beachcomber for a zombie. An earthquake, severest in months, hits while we are there—and we don't even know it until we hear people talking about it afterward. Which proves there's practically no difference between a zombie and an earthquake.

Tuesday—Among those at lunch are Tom Harmon, the football star, and Everett Crosby, whose brother Bing is. Tom, out here to make a movie about himself, is amiable and unawed by Hollywood. He'll finish his picture in time to play in the All-Star game, then will resume radio work in Detroit. He doesn't seem to have any notion of becoming a screen star. . . . Crosby, business head of the family enterprises, reminisces about one of his first business undertakings. Bing was only just becoming known thru phonograph records. Everett got the contract to haul the muck out of the Wawona vehicular tunnel in Yosemite National park. He and another fellow each had a truck. They had to work at night, removing the result of the day's drilling and blasting. When laborers loaded his truck Crosby had to back down a temporary road and dump it at the edge of a 1,500 foot cliff. There was only a guy with a flashlight on a pole to tell him when he had reached the edge. He thinks managing crooners is easier.

Wednesday—A morning and a night doing a column and a Sunday page, and in the afternoon to see "Sergeant York," which I think rates as a fine movie. Most film biographies are on the pompous side, with everybody—including the actor—being awed because an actor is acting the hell out of a historical character. This one isn't like that and I'll take Gary Cooper any time. I'd like to see him do the life and times of Don Ameche. . . . Then to Romanoff's, and a fascinating chat with Sir Cedric Hardwicke on the business of acting. "On the stage," he says, "an actor makes you believe he is a certain person. On the screen he is that person. . . . On the stage you spend most of the first act making people acquainted with your characters, so that the audience will like them and care what happens to them. On the screen, because everybody knows everything about all the actors already, you don't have to bother with exposition. You go right into your story." I talk admiringly of Hardwicke's economy as an actor. "If you don't move," he says, "nobody can steal a scene from you or misplace the emphasis on a scene." I tell him that Jack Oakie, a roughneck comedian, has the same theory—that a dead-pan comic like Tom Howard is hardest to buck. "Well," says Sir Cedric, "I learned about not wasting movement from watching Lucien Guitry play 'Pasteur.'"

Thursday—To the Warner plant to chat with Jack Carson, the perfect stuffed shirt, on the "New Orleans Blues" set. It probably is coincidence that the similarity between this picture and Paramount's "Birth of the Blues"—both of which have gangsters muscling in on swing bands—is just a coincidence. . . . More about Carson another day.

Friday—It's the Fourth, and the studios are closed, and there is no sense in working. So to Lakeside for a golf game, and I draw as an opponent a short, sunny tempered comedian named Pete De Paolo, who could well be in the movies but doesn't need to be. He's the old time great man of the Indianapolis speedway. Now he runs an auto supply outfit. I tell him, "I suppose now that you're older you are just a driver." "I always was," he snaps, fuddy-duddy conservative Sunday "I raced on race tracks and that's all. I love driving an automobile and I have always been the most careful of drivers."

Saturday—As usual, nothing beyond routine to report.

Open Estates for Barrington Garden Tour

BY JUDITH CASS.

MEMBERS of garden clubs in Illinois are receiving attractive announcements—and invitations—from the Garden Club of Barrington to its eighth annual country house and garden tour. The public also is invited to visit the Barrington countryside between the hours of 11 and 5 on Friday, Aug. 1. Six estates will be open for inspection.

First on the tour is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Rowe, Seven Acres, situated in Otis road. It is a remodeled farmhouse with a terrace and garden overlooking Hawthorne lake. A terrace table and children's table will be arranged there. The Rowe home is noted for its charming Cape Cod guesthouse, which is largely furnished with antiques brought from the Garrison house at Hingham, Mass. This was built in 1638 and still is owned by the family of Mr. Rowe, who is a descendant of the Garrisons.

Dallstreams' Home to Be Second on Garden Tour.

Second on the program of homes to be visited, which are listed in the most convenient order for getting from one to another, is that of the Andrew Dallstreams, Andora Hill, in Brinker road. The Dallstream home is of Pennsylvania country house type situated among large oak trees, and overlooking a broad lawn with an adjoining farm. A table set for a hunt breakfast will be shown in the dining room.

Next comes the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Seipp, Woodland Acres, also in Brinker road. Of particular interest is the Seipps' formal garden surrounding a swimming pool. The dining room table will be set for formal use. The Warren McCrackens' Oak Shade in County Line road is next on the list. It is known for its attractive porch and terrace garden overlooking a valley. The dining room table there will be set for a luncheon party.

One of Barrington's older country places is fifth, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orin Wold, Oak Brae, also in County Line road. It has spacious lawns, a formal garden, a service garden, and beautiful woodland. A special table will be set on the terrace. Last comes the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Reichmann, Oakdene, further along in County Line road. There are several interesting gardens, including a rose garden, on the Reichmanns' property. Tea will be served in their woodland garden.

Mrs. Emory Wilder Heads Committee in Charge.

Tickets at one dollar each may be obtained at the Pure Oil gasoline station in Barrington, or at the entrance to any of the homes. Mrs. Emory Wilder heads the committee in charge of arranging the tables, and Mrs. Paul V. Harper and Mrs. Frank A. Hecht Jr. are co-chairmen of the committee that will arrange flowers in the different homes.

Miss Elizabeth Howland is president of the garden club. Mrs. Frank Zuncker is general chairman of the open garden day committee, with Mrs. Maulsby Forrest and Mrs. Robert Hilton as co-chairmen. Mrs. Robert Work is in charge of preparing maps of the Barrington countryside which will be supplied with the tickets. Some of those on the committee are Mrs. William D. Horne Jr., Mrs. Malcolm McAdoo, Mrs. Edward K. Hardy, Mrs. Evan Evans, and Mrs. Randolph Payson.

Winnetka Board of N. U. Settlement Plans Show.

The women in charge of the annual fashion show the Winnetka board of Northwestern University settlement is giving on Sept. 27 have prepared an especially gay show to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the founding of the settlement. "Lovely Lady—On the Go" will be presented in 12 scenes. Some of the sub-titles are Tireless Clothes for Travel; Fool the Eye—Fool the Purse; Make the Most of Your Husband; the Good Neighbor Policy, or Dressing for South America; Smack in the Public Eye, and Two-Act Dresses, or Dual Rôles.

The show will end with a scene immediately following the performance in the rooms, where tea will be served. It will be called "Four Men About Town," and the details, except that it has a definite tie-up with the "Lovely Lady," are being kept secret. The show will be presented in the auditorium of New Trier High school. Mrs. John P. Hooker is chairman of the show, with Mrs. William S. Warfield III. and Mrs. Elbert Clark as co-chairmen.

Mrs. Clarence Randall and Mrs. Rollin D. Wood will have charge of the dressing rooms; Mrs. Everett Graff and Mrs. N. Landon Hoyt Jr.

Beecham's Ravinia Program Presents Novelty by Delius

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Sir Thomas Beecham, conducting. Presented at Ravinia park Sunday afternoon, July 6, 1941. The program: Overture to "The Thievish Magpie" ..... Rossini
Serenade from "Hassan" ..... Delius
[First time in Chicago.]
Suite from "The Fair Maid of Perth" ..... Bizet
Excerpts from act 3 of "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg" .. Wagner
Symphony No. 4, G major ..... Dvorak

BY CECIL SMITH.

Changing his program at the last moment in order to avoid overcrowding of his rehearsal time, Sir Thomas Beecham conducted the Chicago Symphony orchestra in a light but exceedingly agreeable program at Ravinia Park yesterday afternoon. For the first time in his engagement here, he brought forward a work by his favorite British composer, Frederick Delius, and he also continued with the miniature festivals of Bizet and Dvorak which he started last week.

The Serenade from Delius' "Hassan," the only novelty of the day, proved to be one of the shortest compositions ever played at Ravinia. The music is no more than a single undeveloped melody of rather saccharine nature—played with exquisite taste and grace by John Weicher—accompanied by soft, meltingly romantic chords in the strings. Its performance neither added to nor detracted from Delius' rather pale reputation in this part of the world.

The orchestra has now become accustomed to Sir Thomas Beecham's expansive and sometimes oratorical mannerisms of conducting, and the relationship between players and conductor was good. The suite from Bizet's little known opera, "The Fair Maid of Perth," in particular, was presented with beautiful transparency of texture, and the principals of the wood-wind sections had opportunities for several ravishingly played solos. The music itself is not up to that of "Carmen," of course, but the thematic ideas are gracious and the material is well put together.

Rossini's overture to "The Thievish Magpie" started the concert off invigoratingly, with the long and amusing crescendos creating quite a festal air. It is dangerous, admittedly, to become too subjective in criticizing a conductor's choice of tempo, but in this overture Sir Thomas seemed again—as he had in the Brahms and Tschaikowsky symphonies last week—to keep the music on a dead level, a little too slow, for a long time, and then to try to create belated excitement by speeding up the end.

In one of the really notable performances of the week, Sir Thomas projected Dvorak's little known Fourth symphony as a work of continuous interest and vigor. Only in the scherzo, with its wonderful Bohemian dance rhythms, does the symphony hint at greatness. Elsewhere the thematic material offers a field day for tune detectives, since there are obvious reflections of [illegible]en, Brahms, Mendelssohn, and Wagner. But always the music has an original twist and a likable quality of melodic warmth, and even when it is structurally painful, as it often is, it is always kept alive by its rhythmic vitality.

The excerpts from Wagner's "Mastersingers" sounded just as they have a thousand times before when they have been solidly and seriously conducted. The audience like them, and liked everything else, and gave Sir Thomas and the orchestra the handsome amount of applause they deserve.

Time to Write Sally About Bid to Next Party

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Well, boys and girls, the news of our next party was every bit as good as I promised it would be, wasn't it?

Here's your chance to come to a gay party given especially for us at the Hotel Sherman. With his partner, George Hendry, Coleman Clark will put on an exhibition of skillful table tennis that will take your breath away. They move so quickly and the ball flies so fast that you can hardly see them. Mr. Clark has held practically every title there is for table tennis, so if you like the game, here's a chance to see an expert.

Carl Marx, the clown who's going to help entertain us in the Panther room on July 17, knows just how to make boys and girls laugh, because he's had years and years of circus experience, both in Europe and in the United States.

Two singers from Jimmy Dorsey's band have also promised to attend our party.

On July 17, 100 boys and girls will come with me to enjoy all this at the Sherman, and I'm looking for youngsters who especially like this sort of entertainment. If that applies to you, let me have a letter from you before next Thursday morning.

Just tell me why you think you'd like this party, and if you write a good letter, maybe you'll win an invitation. When writing, you must be sure to tell me your full name, address and age, and remember to write that letter all by yourself.

These are the only rules we have, so if you're really enthusiastic about this party, run for a pencil and paper and begin your letter to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

Posting of Colors Varies Concerts in Forest Preserves

A patriotic dash was given yesterday to the choral concerts held in the forest preserves when Boy Scouts and Sea Scouts posted colors. The concerts, sponsored by the forest preserve district and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, were the fourth in the present summer series.

An audience of several thousand persons heard the Moody Memorial church choir in Caldwell woods. J. Stratton Shufelt directed. Sea Scouts officiated at the flag ceremonies.

About 2,000 attended the Dan Ryan woods program given by the Immanuel Lutheran church girls' choir, directed by Theodore F. Gose. As many attended the recital in Thatcher woods presented by the Austin Methodist church under I. Rai Sturges. A chorus from the National Youth administration also sang. Boy Scouts posted colors at these events.

William Waugh, Illinois department commander of the American Legion, will speak before the Cook County council of the American Legion auxiliary Friday afternoon at the Hotel Sherman.

Simplicity Key of Two Furniture Openings Today

New furniture designs of startling simplicity appear in the home furnishings trade shows which open today in the American Furniture Mart and the Merchandise Mart. More than 25,000 buyers from all parts of the country are expected to register during the shows' two week run.

All unessential details have been stripped from the new models. With manufacturers feeling the shortage of material because of national armament priorities, the designers have made the best of what they had and turned out styles revealing a new beauty in their simplicity.

Use is made of every available space. Chests open up into beds. Many chairs and tables are combined. Even the footends of some of the beds have drawers for clothing storage.

Metal pulls on dressers, desks, and chests have almost disappeared this year on both the traditional and modern lines to make way for the rearmament program. The designers have substituted wood, plastic, and glass pulls.

Domestic woods are being used more than ever before because the supply of imported wood is almost cut off by the war. A year ago oak bedroom suites were almost unheard of. Now almost every manufacturer shows them. There is also an increased use of birch and maple in modern groupings and hundreds of walnut suites on display.

Patriotic themes—"American furniture for American homes"—and furniture of South American design are much in evidence. In the early American showings, light scaled pieces replace the cruder, more rugged types of designs.

All furnishings on display at the two shows will go on the retail market this fall and winter. The public is not admitted to the displays.

Two representatives of the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supplies will confer this week with manufacturers on proposed furniture price increases.

SYNOPSIS.

Orphaned since childhood, Celia Ames, 22, has no one to whom she can turn when she loses her job. In her loneliness she has fallen in love with ingratiating Val Quentin, a fellow boarder, who is always borrowing money from her. She runs into Felicity Stanmore, four years her junior, whom she mothered in convent days. Felicity's mother is dead and her father, Sir Martin, is 50, handsome and rich. Felicity invites Celia to their home for the week-end and confides to her that she is in love. The man turns out to be Val, and Celia finds that he has bought Felicity a ring with money he got from pawning Celia's jewelry. Sir Martin does not like Val and asks Celia to come live with them as Felicity's companion and help run the household during Felicity's Aunt May Allison's absence. Celia accepts. Miss Allison, jealous of Felicity's love for Celia, has made things as difficult for Celia as possible. Then, too, altho Celia is now cured of her love for Val, she is forced to warn Felicity against him, and Felicity thinks Celia is just jealous. Celia finds herself falling in love with Sir Martin and wanting to live up to his trust in her but at the same time she does not want to tell tales on Felicity. At a cabaret party Sir Martin learns that Val is divorced and living on money from his ex-wife. He forbids Val his house and is furious at Celia for not telling him. Felicity, rebellious, disappears, and Celia frantically follows and finds her on board a train en route to meet Val in Paris. But just as she finds her, Celia stumbles and sprains her ankle badly. As a last desperate effort to stop the elopement Celia tells Felicity about Val pawning her jewelry.

INSTALMENT XXV.

ELOPEMENT STOPPED.

Felicity sat with a face of stone turned to the window. The story had taken some time to tell, for she had demanded chapter and verse. She had been relentless about that, and she had put the pawn tickets into her own handbag.

Celia was exhausted when it was over, and leaned back, closing her eyes. She had shot her last bolt and there wasn't anything else to be done now except try not to moan in case Felicity would think she was making a bid for sympathy again.

It must have been nearly an hour that Felicity sat without moving or speaking, just staring out of the window.

Ashford flashed by, which meant that the backbone of the journey down to the coast was broken, and the steward came to remind Felicity that she had said they would be wanting tea.

"O, yes, you might as well bring some. Can this window be raised?"

"I'm sorry, Miss, it can't. But there's plenty of ventilation."

"I wasn't thinking about the ventilation," Felicity muttered.

She glanced at Celia's white face and shivered. Celia looked as tho she were asleep. Then she edged her way out of the compartment.

Celia, who had been dozing, sat up in vague alarm.

But in a moment Felicity was back. She held out her left hand to show that it was ringless.

"I couldn't bear that thing another minute," she said. "I had to get rid of it and, as the window doesn't open, I got rid of it the only other way I could think of."

The return journey to London was an experience for Felicity Stanmore, and one which probably was good for her. She had never believed that such discomfort could be endured. They had to travel third class because there wasn't enough money between them to pay for even second class tickets. They had been obliged to squander half a crown on a stout walking stick for Celia, and it cost a shilling to telephone Stevens, which Celia insisted must be done.

No, Stevens had not as yet telephoned to Hayward's Heath; he had been hoping—hoping. Thank heaven for that.

There was an hour to wait for a return train from the town station, and they mustered enough for a glass of milk and a bun each at the buffet, and then there wasn't any money left, so Felicity couldn't afford a porter to carry her luggage. They got into the first carriage that came handy. It was a smoker, and seven other people got in, too, before the train started, including three burly, pipe smoking farmers. But Felicity had some cigarets which she personally considered in the nature of life savers.

The train was a local and they got shunted off on a sideline and had to change at Paddock Wood and again at Tonbridge, where there was a wait of half an hour. Farmers got off and farmers got on, and ruddy cheeked women with bulging baskets and sticky, squirming children who had been to town for their Saturday shopping and perhaps a visit to the pictures.

But, of course, all nightmares end some time, and finally there were the welcome lights of the river as the train rumbled over the bridge and a moment later fetched up at the terminus, which was Charing Cross this time.

"Do you think you can manage?" Felicity asked anxiously. "I'll get out first and help you. Good gosh, what a thing it is to be without any money! I've a mind to have a porter, anyway."

"I'll manage fine," Celia said cheerfully.

It was like coming home wounded but triumphant from the wars. Felicity had lost her orchids and her doll's hat looked funnier, even, than the master milliner who created it had intended. Both of them had dirty hands and faces and were ravenously hungry.

And there, running up and down the platform, peering into all the first class carriages and scrutinizing the flood of passengers were Sandy Maclaren and good old fat faced Stevens. Celia nearly fainted all over again, but with relief this time, and Felicity burst into tears, flinging herself headlong into Sandy's arms.

Home was a pretty good place to get back to, after all.

Stevens brought them a picnic meal and they had it before the fire in the living room.

"I wonder if it's absolutely necessary for Martin Stanmore to know what an ass I tried to make of myself?" Felicity glanced anxiously from Celia to Sandy.

"As far as I am concerned that is between you and him," Celia said.

Sandy looked a little doubtful.

"What about Stevens and Jenkins and the rest of 'em?" he asked. "I'd rather tell than be told on, any day."

"Pooh, I can square them."

"But how are we going to account for Celia's bad ankle?"

"She's hardly limping at all now. Show him how you can walk, Celia."

"I shouldn't be surprised if that was a hint. I'll show you how I can walk up to bed."

"No, I'm going to carry you," said Sandy. "We don't want you to leave us, but all the same you look as tho a spot of bed is just what you need most."

When he set her down he kissed her.

"One of these days I'll find words to thank you, but I haven't got any now," he said. "I don't know how you worked the miracle, but maybe Felicity will tell me."

Jenkins rushed in with a bottle of witch hazel and a roll of bandages. Celia had a great longing to be alone, but in the eyes of this household she was a heroine. Jenkins had come all unstuck and couldn't do enough for her.

Soon she was soaking in a steaming, scented bath and then letting Jenkins skilfully bind her ankle, which felt ever so much better after the bath. And it wasn't the disgraceful old brown dressing gown she had on, but a delicious pink affair with a lot of swansdown on it.

"I couldn't find your bathrobe, so I brought one of Miss Felicity's," said Jenkins.

That was undoubtedly true, for Celia had locked the eyesore in a drawer and hidden the key. It had gotten on her nerves until she could not bear the sight of it.

"And now, if there's anything else you want, you'll ring, won't you, Miss?"

Celia nodded, her eyes heavy with fatigue.

"Thank you . . . you're so kind," she murmured.

There was a wood fire burning in the grate, and she curled up in a big chair before it with a Shetland rug over her knees.

"Martin . . . Martin," she murmured.

He had put his trust in her and she had not failed him, but it had taken a heavy toll of her strength, both physical and moral.

Was it right that Martin shouldn't be told what had happened?

But Felicity was safe now. As far as Valentine Quentin was concerned she always would be safe, for altho she had said little, that little had been very much to the point.

At Dover, before they found out how nearly bankrupt they were, Celia had suggested that they had better send Val a telegram to spare him the trouble of meeting the train in Paris.

And Felicity had said: "I wouldn't waste a ha'penny to save that rat a trip to the north pole."

Walnuts and pecans are favorite nuts for nut breads. Almonds, black walnuts, Brazil nuts, and peanuts are better for candies, cookies, and cakes, for one reason or another. English walnut and pecan breads come in at least a hundred versions, I'm sure.

Most of these quick loaves are surprisingly easy to make. The good old uncomplicated muffin method, dumping the liquids into the dry ingredients and giving a few quick stirs, is usual. Some rich nut breads call for a cake method of mixing, and have a cake-like texture. Strictly speaking, they are cakes, not nut breads, altho they're served as breads.

Fruit Nut Bread
[1 pound loaf]

2½ cups sifted bread flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
1 cup chopped fruit [dates, prunes, apricots or figs]
½ cup chopped nuts
1¼ cups milk
2 eggs
¼ cup melted shortening

Sift flour, baking powder, salt, and sugar together several times. Add coarsely chopped dried fruit and nuts. Combine well beaten eggs with milk, and add to dry ingredients. Add melted shortening. Stir vigorously, only enough to mix. Spread in a greased loaf pan and let stand 20 minutes before baking. Bake at 350 degrees, moderate oven, for an hour.

Orange Nut Bread
[1 loaf]

1 cup sifted whole wheat flour
1 cup sifted white flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon soda
¾ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
1 beaten egg
¾ cup orange juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
¼ cup melted shortening
½ cup broken walnuts or pecans

Sift flour, with baking powder, soda, salt, and sugar. Combine egg with fruit juices, rind, and shortening. Add liquid mixture all at once to dry ingredients. Add nuts. Stir vigorously until batter is mixed, but not smooth. Turn into a greased loaf pan, cover, and let stand 20 minutes. Bake at 350 degrees for an hour or longer.

Pecan Bread
[1 loaf]

3 cups sifted flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup sugar
1 cup coarsely broken pecans
1 egg
1½ cups milk
2 tablespoons melted shortening

Sift dry ingredients together and add nuts. Add beaten egg to milk and stir all at once into dry ingredients. Add melted shortening. Stir just enough to mix batter, not enough to make it smooth. Bake in a greased loaf pan at 350 degrees for about an hour.

Numerology
By Evelyn Holmes

July 7, 1941.

Universal day—Keep everything quiet and don't let little things upset you.

Special Numbers—Number 13 always has been considered unlucky and there are many interesting stories to show where the superstition began, some of them running back into mythology. The symbol of this number is the Reaper, Death, with a scythe. It doesn't necessarily mean death, but it does bring radical change. The changes are not always unfortunate, but something has to be cut down to make way for the new. Odd as it may seem, this is not considered an unlucky number for marriage or love. Many well known people have defied this superstition and married on unlucky Friday the 13th, perhaps not knowing that the ancients considered this a very lucky marriage day.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

Best start we had on any of the recent hot days was on the morning we wandered into a beauty salon and were lured into having a de luxe pedicure. It does wonderful things for a gal; makes her feel nicely pampered, makes her toes look better as they twinkle thru her open toed sandals, and, most important of all, makes her progress down the steaming street quite chipper and airy-fairy. The cooling, stimulating effect of the creams and lotions linger on for hours.

First of all, of course, your toe nails are neatly trimmed and the cuticle made presentable. This is literally ticklish business, but your familiar toes take on a well groomed look they've sadly needed.

Then comes a luxurious foot massage with a gooey, cooling cream. This is heavenly if your feet are at all inflamed. The gentle massage strokes—upward toward the ankle—and the balmy cream combine to relieve the congestion. While one foot is being massaged the toes of the other are soaking in warm, soapy water. Calluses, if any, are smoothed down with pumice.

The massage is followed by foot lotion, ice cold from the refrigerator. This is massaged in rather liberally, right from toe tips almost to the knees, and the tingling sensation is glorious. The finale to this part of the pedicure is a dusting with antiseptic powder.

Then comes the polish job, painstaking and pretty, to match your finger nails. Your feet are as well groomed as they're comfortable and the hot days holds no terrors for you.

Barbara Ann Hubbell to Wed Miles Winder Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Hubbell of Evanston are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Ann, to Miles Shirl Winder Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Winder of Salt Lake City, Utah. The wedding is planned for August.

Miss Hubbell was graduated from Kemper hall and attended Northwestern university and the University of Wisconsin. Mr. Winder was graduated from the University of Utah and expects to receive his doctor of medicine degree in June, 1942, from the New York university college of medicine. In 1937 he was a member of the Harvard university and University of Utah archæological expedition. Mr. Winder is a great-grandson of John R. Winder who took over the construction of the Mormon temple at Salt Lake City. His father is a former member of the Utah state legislature and also served as state senator.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Schutter of Glencoe announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Lieut. Norman J. McGowan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. McGowan of Chicago. The wedding is planned for September. Miss Schutter, who is called Libbie, was graduated from the Roycemore school and from Northwestern university. Lieut. McGowan, a member of the army air corps, was graduated from West Point and at present is taking specialized work at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Everett Garden Cook Marries in Yuma, Ariz.

Word comes from Yuma, Ariz., of the marriage there on July 4 of Miss Elizabeth Barkley to Everett Gardner Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Cook of Winnetka. Mr. and Mrs. Osie Barkley of Nogales, Ariz., were in Yuma for their daughter's marriage, but no members of the bridegroom's family were present. Mr. and Mrs. Cook plan to go west in August to visit their son and his bride.

Mr. Cook and his bride have taken a house in El Cajon, Cal., near San Diego. They are postponing their wedding trip because Mr. Cook's position with an aircraft company allowed him just a few days' leave.

Mrs. Harry L. Street of Winnetka became a grandmother for the fourth time last Thursday when a second son was born in St. Joseph's hospital, Denver, to Mr. and Mrs. James Reid Shannon.

WARD BEATS TODD IN WESTERN GOLF FINAL, 3 AND 2

FIRST AMATEUR TO REPEAT SINCE EVANS IN 1923

Champion Leads Thruout.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 6.—Marvin [Bud] Ward, 28 year old Spokane, Wash., battler, today won the Western Amateur golf championship for the second successive year by defeating Harry Todd of Dallas, Tex., 3 and 2, in the 36 hole final over the sun drenched hills of the Broadmoor club. It was the first time since 1923, when Chick Evans won his fourth Western in a row, that a champion had been able to repeat. For the 149 holes he played in this show, Ward was six under par.

Marvin Ward.

Bitter Battle All the Way.

The match between Ward, as defending champion, and Todd, the brawny Texan who won the title in 1939 and who beat Ward out for the medal in this party, was expected to be a fight all the way, but hardly the one it turned out to be. It's dubious if the National PGA tourney over Denver way this week will produce such a bitterly fought nine as Bud and Harry put on after luncheon this afternoon. Only one hole was halved, and that in par. Ward's 32, 3 under par, revealed 4 birdies, while Todd's equally brilliant 33 showed 3 nicks against the card.

All of the above should serve as a convincing warning to his rivals in the forthcoming National Amateur at Omaha, Neb., that Master Ward is going to be as obdurate about losing as he was when in the semi-finals of the 1937 National, not to mention 1939, when he won the Big One in Chicago. This firm chinned kid from the northwest, who has a genius for escaping trouble, is back on the beam again.

Bud Leads All the Way.

Bud was 2 up at every turn. Around the morning nine in 35, even par, he outdid Todd's 37 by two shots, and finished the eighteen with a 72 against Harry's 75. Then came their afternoon nines of 32 and 33, in which Todd, as fine a competitor as Ward, twice reduced the champion's lead to 1 up, an achievement he repeated on the 31st. Harry was in trouble on the 32d, where he came a cropper in a gully off the tee, and again at the 34th, where the match ended.

The cards for the match:

MORNING ROUND.
Par—Out	454	434	344—35
Ward—Out	444	535	343—35
Todd—Out	455	444	344—37
Ward leads, 2 up.
Par—In	444	344	354—35—70
Ward—In	444	344	365—37—72
Todd—In	446	344	364—38—75
Ward leads, 2 up.
AFTERNOON ROUND.
Par—Out	454	434	344—35
Ward—Out	354	333	353—32
Todd—Out	443	434	245—33
Ward leads, 2 up.
Par—In	444	344	354—35—70
Ward—In	444	444	3
Todd—In	444	354	4
Ward wins, 3 and 2.

Ward, who has for his last three matches been in the unfamiliar position of being up all the way, came out for the afternoon round and touched it off with an eight foot birdie putt on the 19th, thus going three up. This in no manner fazed the imperturbable Todd, who dropped a six footer for a bird on the 20th, then holed an uphill try of 12 feet on the 21st and was only one down. Here the shooting began in earnest. Ward holed an eight footer for a three on the 385 yard 22d, and after missing a deuce by inches at the 23d, dropped a six foot curler at the 24th. Todd responded with a 40 foot deuce on the 25th, and chipped beautifully for a winning par on the 26th, where-

CUBS LOSE THIRD STRAIGHT SUNDAY DOUBLE HEADER

Pirates Again Triumph, 2-1 and 13-4.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 6.—The Cubs, for the third successive Sabbath, this afternoon blew a double header. The victors today, as last Sunday, were the Pirates, and the scores this time were 2 to 1 in a good baseball demonstration in the first match, and 13 to 4 in a terrible thing designated as the second contest. The day gave the Pirates a sweep of the three game series and five straight over the Cubs in eight days.

Both the Pirate runs in the first game, Claude Passeau's eighth loss, were on homers by Elbie Fletcher, one in the first inning, another in the third. The Cubs made four hits, all singles, off Truett Sewell. Sewell has won eight victories this year, four of them from the Cubs.

Stringer Gets First Homer.

In the second game, humanely ended by the Sunday law after eight innings, Charley Root started but disappeared during the course of a seven run blast in the fifth. He was succeeded, in more or less rapid succession, by Vance Page, Tot Pressnell, and Jake Mooty. In this one Lou Stringer knocked his first major league homer with one on, to give the Cubs a momentary lead. Phil Cavarretta also drove out a homer in the eighth.

The Cubs, with one more game to go in the first half of their 1941 schedule, have won 34, lost 42, therefore are eight games under the .500 mark.

FIRST GAME

The story of the first game mostly is a narrative about what Fletcher did to Passeau and what the Cubs didn't do to Sewell.

Aside from Fletcher's two homers and one double, the only hitting tolerated by Passeau was a pair of singles in the second inning, a double by Gustine in the seventh on which he was thrown out trying to reach third and a single by Handley with two out in the eighth. As in his 2 to 1 victory over the Cardinals last Friday, Claude refrained from issuing a pass.

He Really Hits 'Em.

Fletcher's first inning homer cleared the screen in front of the lower deck in right. The one in the third inning, his seventh of the year, went into the second deck. His double in the sixth inning was the hardest hit shot of all. It hit the wall in deep right center, some 400 feet from the plate.

The Cubs did not get a runner on base until Hack walked at the start of the fourth. Stan went to second on Cavarretta's infield out and scored Chicago's lone run on the Cubs' first of four hits, a single by McCullough.

Sturgeon singled with two out in the fifth. With two out in the seventh Dallessandro and Stringer boosted the Cub hit total to the ultimate four with singles. Galan batted for Sturgeon, batting hero of the double victory over the Cards in Chicago on July 4, and was thrown out by Gustine, who played him just right back on the grass in short right.

SECOND GAME

A run which the Pirates made in the first inning on singles by Anderson and Van Robays, with a pass to Fletcher sandwiched in the progression, stood for a lead until after Sturgeon and Root had been called out on strikes in the third inning. At this juncture Hack walked and got home ahead of Stringer on Lou's homer, a big smash over the left field fence.

Dallessandro Hits Double.

The Pirates resumed the lead with two runs in their end of the third. With one out, two walks and a hit

Washington Park Cricket Team Beats Lake Shore

Washington Park defeated Lake Shore, 102 to 85, yesterday in an Illinois Cricket league match at Wilson avenue and the Outer drive. In another game on the same field the K. A. Autys won from a Michigan team composed of Flint and Detroit players, 99 to 95.

Joe DiMaggio Runs Streak to 48 Games

New York, July 6 (AP).—A crowd of 60,948, biggest of the year, turned out at Yankee stadium today to see the Yankees dedicate their memorial to Lou Gehrig—and then stayed on while the American league leaders, with Joe DiMaggio leading the way, put on a show that was well worth their money.

48

The big center fielder ran his prodigious hitting streak to 48 straight games against the Philadelphia Athletics, and did it with a vengeance. In the opener, which the Yanks won, 8 to 4, he paced their 17 hit attack with a double and three singles in five trips to the plate, and in the second game his triple and single drove in two runs as the Yanks won, 3 to 1. The two victories ran the Yankee margin to three and a half games over the Cleveland Indians, who lost to the White Sox. Scores:

GREENBERG WINS WAY TO FINAL IN EASTERN TENNIS

Montclair, N. J., July 6 [Special].—Seymour Greenberg of Northwestern university defeated Frank Mehner of the University of Utah, 6-1, 5-7, 6-2, 11-9, to gain the varsity final of the eastern intercollegiate tennis tournament. His opponent remains in doubt, as rain prevented a decision from being reached between George Toley of Southern California and Ronald Edwards of San José State, in the other semi-finals.

When play was called after eight games had been completed in the fourth set, Edwards was leading, 6-3, 6-1, 4-6, 4-4. The match will be finished tomorrow morning, with the final scheduled for the afternoon.

HERRON TAKES NATIONAL LOG ROLLING CROWN

Gladstone, Mich., July 6 (AP). — Competing in a downpour of rain, Jim Herron of Kelso, Wash., won the log rolling title at the National Roleo tournament today by dumping Joe Connor of Cloquet, Minn.

Herron, 1938 title winner, took the first fall in 15 minutes and eight seconds, but Connor came back to take the second in 6 minutes and 10 seconds, despite a leg cramp. The Washington birler then took the title by winning the third fall in 14 minutes and 8 seconds.

Dykes Draws Suspension in Umpire Row

Detroit, Mich., July 6 (AP).—William Harridge, president of the American league, announced today that Manager Jimmy Dykes of the Chicago White Sox has been indefinitely suspended for the "use of obscene and abusive language" against Umpire Steve Basil in yesterday's Chicago-Cleveland game in Chicago.

Harridge, who is here for the major league All-Star game in Briggs stadium Tuesday, declared Dykes will remain under suspension until he can satisfy the American league office that he will fall in line with the other seven managers of the league.

Text of Harridge's statement, one of the most severe ever issued against a major league manager, follows:

"For his conduct and use of obscene and abusive language to Umpire Basil in the game played in Chicago on Saturday, while protesting the decision of Umpire Harry Geisel on a foul ball hit to right field in the ninth inning, Manager Dykes has been indefinitely suspended.

Charged with Delaying Games.

"He will remain under suspension until he can satisfy the American league office that in the future he will fall in line with the other seven managers of our league in conducting himself and his ball club on the field.

"His tactics in delaying our games, attempting to bulldoze and browbeat the umpires while filing protests, which have no basis in fact or justification in the rules, has become very offensive, not only to the spectators in other cities thruout the circuit, but to our entire organization."

DYKES GIVES HIS VERSION

Jimmy Dykes, White Sox manager, yesterday admitted using "some of my choicest $2 words" after being ejected by Umpire Steve Basil from Saturday's game in Comiskey park between his club and the Indians.

During his argument with Basil, tho, Dykes said all he called the umpire was a "liar." Dykes was thrown out of the game because he claimed interference by Cleveland players in the bull pen when Taft Wright attempted to catch a fly ball which was foul by inches. Umpire-in-Chief Harry Geisel admitted his eyes were on a base runner at the time and that when he consulted Basil the latter said there had been no interference.

The Cleveland players, three of them, stood close to the foul line instead of backing up against the grandstand to give Wright a clear track. When Wright gave up on the ball he was within a step of the Cleveland men.

Dykes, who received word of his indefinite suspension from Will Harridge, president of the American league, spent yesterday afternoon on a chair in the far end of the left field wing, dressed in his Sunday best.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

In behalf of Ted Lyons, their 40 year old wonder boy, the White Sox forgot all about their hitting slump yesterday before 15,627 in Comiskey park. The Sox turned loose a 13 hit attack to smother the recently pennant minded Cleveland Indians, 9 to 4. This not only made the master moundsman's 241st American league victory and his eighth of this season a simple matter but paid off Al [Lefty] Milnar for two beatings he had previously inflicted on the Chicagoans.

Lyons' third straight triumph over the Indians—who aroused his ire by scoring three runs in the ninth to beat him in his first effort against them this season—probably could have been inflicted far more effectively if exertion had been necessary. Ted's mates made it easy for him by scoring four times in knocking out Milnar in the opening inning. Then they made four more before rescuer Joe Heving decided in the fourth that he had seen enough. With this sort of comfort, Lyons, after doing a two hit job for five innings, just took things easy. And so did the suspended Manager James Dykes, who was a spectator.

Wright Has a Big Day.

Taft Wright had a busy afternoon, picking off more than one man's share of the thirteen wallops landed against Mel Harder and Al Smith, as well as Milnar and Heving. Taffy exploded a triple which hurried Milnar's exit at the start. He singled in the third to assist in two runs off Heving, but wasn't able to do anything of consequence in the fourth when Heving followed Milnar to the shower room. But in his last attempt Wright singled again, thus having a hand in the only run scored off Smith, who worked the eighth.

Altho hits were all over the premises, Julius Solters had none, being the lone Sox member to experience such suffering. However, he had some consolation. The Indians slipped him an intentional pass in the first inning. In the third he survived on a force play on which the Indians erred and a moment later was involved in a triple steal by which Wright reached the plate because of throwing confusion in the Indians' ranks. Solters also scored in the

FUTURITY WEEK STARTS TODAY AT ARLINGTON PARK

$50,000 Stake Saturday; Grassland Wednesday.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

This is Futurity week at Arlington Park. There was a time when the owners of contenders for the juvenile championship waited until the Saratoga meeting in August before getting down to serious business but since the steady rise of the Arlington Futurity, the opening of the campaign has been moved up to July.

A few of the youngsters who will run next Saturday in this stake, which will gross close to $50,000, are almost certain to go on thru the fall as the leading contenders for supremacy in their division. Most of the best juveniles of eastern and central states are on the grounds at Arlington, ready for a showdown in this six furlong event.

Calumet Entry a Threat.

The Calumet farm's speedy pair, Son Again and Some Chance, established themselves as two of the fastest colts competing in the east during the Belmont meeting. Requested was the only colt which could run with them. Son Again made an unfortunate debut at Arlington last week, finishing fourth after being left at the post, but it is considered unlikely that such a mishap will happen twice in a row. This youngster won the Juvenile stakes at Belmont. Son Again's running mate, Some Chance, scored in the National Stallion stakes at Belmont. Trainer Ben Jones is pointing both of these horses for the Futurity—and the entry is expected to be a strong favorite.

Owner Warren Wright is particularly anxious to see them get off to a good start in their major campaign for the juvenile championship because he feels that he has the 3 year old title virtually in the bag with Whirlaway. It would be quite a feat for any owner to sweep both divisions in a single season.

Son Forever Well Bred.

Among the rivals of Son Again and Some Chance in Saturday's big race will be Milky Way farm's Son Forever and Raoul Espinosa's Counterbalance. Both scored handily in recent tuneup races. Son Forever won his first start, after going to the post as the favorite because of his breeding and workouts. He is a son of Blue Larkspur, out of the Lassie stakes winner, Forever Yours, a daughter of the fine performer, Toro.

Cleaveland Putnam's Swain, which won the Futurity last year, has an able successor in Man's Man, which scored in particularly impressive fashion last week. Like Swain, he is a son of Ladysman, winner of the 1932 Arlington Futurity. Thomas Piatt's Bold Chance, the victim of Man's Man's brilliant stretch run, is also one of the Futurity contenders.

Grassland on Wednesday.

Another point of interest in the course of the coming week will be the Grassland handicap on Wednesday, a $2,500 stake event which will be a prelude to the $7,500 Arlington handicap, scheduled for a week from Saturday. Both of these events will be run on the turf course.

Junius Bell's Steel Heels, winner of the Stars and Stripes handicap last Friday, is among the nominees for the Grassland. If he accepts the issue, he will have a six pound advantage over Milky Way farm's Gallahadion, which finished third in the Stars and Stripes. Gallahadion is top weight at 118 in the Grassland, while Steel Heels has been assigned 112. Others eligible for the Grassland are Third Covey, To A Tee, War Minstrel, and Upstream.

3 Milwaukee Youths Enter Tribune Swim

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The Milwaukee Athletic club is the first organization to enter the 12th annual 100 yard free style swimming races sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. In fact, the Milwaukee club actually entered before announcement of dates for preliminaries and finals was made yesterday.

Milwaukee and southern Wisconsin always have been represented in these races, just as Indiana, western Michigan, suburban and downstate Illinois cities are represented. This is the first time, however, that the Milwaukee Athletic club has entered the meet. More than a month ago Coach John Hickman, assistant athletic director of the club, wrote inquiring the dates for this year's preliminaries. Later he submitted the names of Roger Russert, Anders Christensen, and Robin Middlemas.

Russert will compete in class A [11 and 12 years of age]; Christensen is entered in class B [13 and 14 years of age], and Middlemas will swim in class D [17 and 18 years of age].

Entry Deadline Sunday.

Entries for the four preliminaries which will be held July 19 and 20 will be accepted until midnight next Sunday. Individual entries may be made on the blank which is printed daily in these columns. Team entries may be submitted by coach or instructor but the home address of each contestant must be furnished as well as his age.

The schedule of qualifying meets follows:

July 19—Cermak pool, 7600 Ogden avenue, Lyons, Ill.

July 19—Sherman park, 52d street and Racine avenue.

July 20—Whealan pool, Milwaukee and Devon avenues.

July 20—California park, 3901 North California avenue.

From these four preliminary meets will come approximately 120 finalists who will compete in the 10 championship age divisions [five for boys and five for girls] in the California park pool on Sunday afternoon, July 27. The number of qualifiers in each age class and from each preliminary meet will be determined by the number of entries in each section and in each age division.

Award Prizes to All.

Each entrant will receive a postcard two or three days before the preliminaries which will furnish instructions and his racing number. All contestants will report at 1 p. m. on the day of their race, to be assigned to preliminary heats. Each winner of a preliminary will receive a gold medal and all contestants reporting will be awarded bronze buttons. In the championships July 27 the prizes are gold, silver, and bronze medals for first, second, and third, respectively, in the 10 final events.

None of the four pools where preliminaries will be held has a 100 yard straightaway course. At Whealan pool and California park the course is 50 yards. This necessitates one turn. At Cermak pool and California park two turns are necessary.

Thoughts.

Kindly thoughts are never dormant,
Settling still like sodden clay,
But, as ripples from a pebble
Influence waters far away,

Reaching far, encircling wide,

Lightening hearts with burden plied.
Never downtrod, never bitter,
They are what this dark world needs,
Kindly thoughts toward one another,
Kindly thoughts and kindly deeds.

SOUTH SIDERS WIN, 21-11; SWEEP POLICE SERIES

The South Siders' police baseball team left no doubt of its superiority over the North Siders yesterday by sweeping the three game series played annually for the Policeman's Benevolent association fund. The the South Siders had clinched the title by winning the first two games, 25,000 watched them win, 21 to 11, in Wrigley field.

The champions scored 13 runs in a wild third inning, during which there were eight hits, three walks, four errors, a wild pitch, and a passed ball. Ted Budil was the winning pitcher. Mike Delaney, North Side mound star, was knocked out in the third inning.

Thomas J. Morris, president of the Benevolent association, said the ticket sale for the series, $110,000, set a new record.

COLAN, TROTTER BOX TONIGHT IN MARIGOLD BOUT

Johnny Colan, New York middleweight, will try for his 26th straight victory in a 10 round bout against Johnny Trotter of the south side in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street, tonight.

Colan, whose correct name is John Colano, has not been defeated since losing to Izzy Redmen in his first match at eight rounds in New York a year ago. His victims include John Flores, whom he knocked out in six rounds in New York Sept. 17, 1940. In his last four matches, three of them in Chicago, he knocked out Settimo Terracina and Frank McBride [twice], and beat Jimmy Casa.

Johnny has scored 34 triumphs in 37 contests since turning professional two years ago, after competing in the New York Golden Gloves tournament.

Trotter is unbeaten this year in seven starts, winning all except a draw fight with Gordon Palmer in the Marigold arena April 28.

Lee Oma, Detroit light heavyweight, is paired with Frank Greene in a six round semi-windup. Leonard Bennett, welterweight, also of Detroit, who has not boxed in Chicago since scoring a seven round technical knockout over Tony Motisi last Nov. 4, will return for a six round event against Chuck Vickers of Indianapolis. Four round matches bring together Johnny Rozina, Milwaukee middleweight, and Mike Sopko, and Frank Pintero, welterweight, also of Milwaukee, and Roy Carmes

117 Start Play Today for PGA Title in Denver

Denver, Colo., July 6 (AP).—Professional golf's perennial leaders, the dark horses and the in-betweens, put the finishing touches on their games today for tomorrow's start of the 24th Professional Golfers' Association tournament, considered second only to the United States Open in golf.

As the 117 prepared for first rounds of 36 hole qualifying tests it was Benny Hogan, Texas native, against the field.

Hogan Shoots a Practice 66.

Hogan fired a final practice round of 66 today. One of the tournament unknowns, George Fazio of Glenolden, Pa., also scored a 66, with one ball out of bounds.

Other low practice rounds included 69s by Craig Wood and Vic Ghezzi; a 70 by Frank Walsh; 71s by Dick Metz, Henry Ransom of Fort Worth, Tex.; Jim Demaret of Noroton, Conn.; Jimmy Thomson and Al Nelson of Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla. Gene Sarazen, in his initial 18 holes, had a 73 with a seven on the par 4 last hole.

64 Golfers to Qualify.

Sixty-four players will qualify. Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., automatically qualifies as the defending champion, but he will play in the 36 hole qualifying trials in hopes of winning the diamond studded medal which goes to the low scorer. Qualifying rounds will be played Monday and Tuesday. Match play will be on Wednesday thru Sunday.

Predictions that a 6 under par 136 would be carded for the low qualifying score were heard in some quarters while other guesses ranged upward to 140. Wood, the 39 year old United States Open champion, said he would be satisfied with the latter score.

Wood Seeks a Slam.

Wood, seeking to be the first to score the pro's grand slam—the Augusta Masters, the Open, and the PGA titles in one year—was second favorite to Hogan, along with Nelson and Sam Snead. The trio played Cherry Hills Saturday, Wood and Snead posting 70s and Nelson a 71. Wood has an ailing leg, Snead's back has given him trouble, and Nelson has a smashed finger.

Seeded second behind Evert, Freeman took the offensive from the very beginning and sustained it thruout.

Mary Arnold of Los Angeles, Cal., defeated the veteran Catherine Wolf of Elkhart, Ind., 6-3, 8-6 for the women's championship. The Californian, who went up a notch in national ranking to No. 8 when Alice Marble dropped out, was seeded No. 1 and Miss Wolf was No. 3.

Following this match Miss Arnold teamed with John Foreman of Chicago to beat Helen Shockley of Evanston, Ill., and Dave Freeman for the mixed doubles honors, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4.

BECKWITH HOLDS DRILL TODAY IN STADIUM ARENA

Booker Beckwith, Gary light heavyweight, undefeated in his two year professional campaign, will end boxing drills this afternoon in the Chicago Stadium outdoor arena for his 10 round bout there Wednesday night against Nash Garrison, San José, Cal., heavyweight.

Beckwith, who has scored 13 consecutive victories, transferred his training activities from a Gary gymnasium at the request of Promoter William R. Rand and Matchmaker John [Scotty] Strachan. The workout will feature a preview of the new arena, and spectators will be admitted without charge.

Others to train there this afternoon include Leo Rodak, south side lightweight challenger, and Nick Castiglione of the west side, who will meet in a 10 round supporting match on Wednesday's card.

Garrison will continue drills in Trafton's gymnasium this afternoon. He concluded sparring workouts yesterday by going two rounds with Richard Sedlak, 190 pound protége of James Christopher. Nash will confine himself to light loosening up exercises today and tomorrow.

The California Mexican was down to 193 pounds yesterday, the lowest poundage he has carried in two years. He scaled 197 when he beat Tony Musto in San José on June 16.

60,948 at Rites

New York, July 6 (AP).—While 60,948 spectators at Yankee stadium stood with bared heads the New York Yankees paid their final tribute to Lou Gehrig today.

The great first baseman's widow unveiled a memorial commemorating his athletic prowess and his character after brief eulogies had been delivered by Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia; James J. Lyons, president of the borough of the Bronx; Connie Mack, veteran manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, and Bill Dickey, Yankee catcher and Gehrig's roommate and close friend.

After the final tribute an army bugler sounded taps, and floral pieces were placed at the base of the monument, whose cost was oversubscribed by the Yankee players. It stands next to a similar monument dedicated nine years ago to the late Miller Huggins, Gehrig's first manager with the Yankees, and a plaque dedicated last year to the late Col. Jacob Ruppert, the Yankees' owner.

All-Stars Move on Detroit for Ninth of Series

Detroit, Mich., July 6 (AP).—Baseball switched its spotlight today from the major league pennant races to Tuesday's ninth annual All-Star game.

William Harridge, president of the American league, who led the vanguard of notables onto the scene, said all indications pointed to Briggs stadium being jammed to its limit of approximately 57,000. If so, it would be the third largest turnout in the history of the midsummer event, which was originated and promoted by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in 1933.

Del Baker and Bill McKechnie, the rival managers in the world series and field generals in Tuesday's game, were due to arrive tomorrow along with the 25 selected players from each league.

Expect Feller to Start.

In their absence nothing was known about the starting lineups, but Bob Feller, Cleveland's great right hander, was expected to start on the mound for the Americans against either Bucky Walters of Cincinnati or Withlow Wyatt of Brooklyn for the National leaguers.

McKechnnie probably will give the spectators a look at most of his players following his procedure of last year when he used all but three of his players in a 4 to 0 victory.

His most likely lineup for the start is John Mize of the Cardinals at first base, Billy Herman of the Dodgers at second, Arky Vaughan of Pittsburgh at short, Stan Hack of Chicago on third, Joe Medwick of the Dodgers, Terry Moore of the Cards, and Mel Ott of the Giants in the outfield, with Walters pitching and Harry Danning of the Giants catching.

Luke Appling Withdraws.

The American league probably will use Rudy York of Detroit at first, Joe Gordon of the Yankees on second, Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox at short, Ken Keltner of Cleveland at third, Ted Williams of Boston, Joe DiMaggio of New York and Jeff Heath of the Indians in the outfield, with Bill Dickey of the Yanks catching Feller.

Baker chose four shortstops on his squad, but Luke Appling of the White Sox notified league officials today he would be unable to play because of an injured knee. His place on the squad will be taken by Emil Leonard, Washington pitcher.

The two managers and the league presidents will meet tomorrow morning with Commissioner K. M. Landis. In addition, meetings of both the National and American leagues were scheduled with consideration of the 1942 All-Star game one of the matters to come up. It is the National league's turn to name a site and Chicago is expected to be given the game as a 10th anniversary acknowledgment of its founding in that city.

Harridge said today he believed a plan also would be worked out for the fans to select next year's team as they had originally.

LEHMAN ASSET VALUE, INCOME HIGHER IN YEAR

Big Investment Trust Buys Up Own Shares.

Lehman corporation, large New York investment trust, yesterday issued its annual report for the fiscal year ended June 30, showing an increase in the net asset value of its capital shares and in net ordinary income.

Robert Lehman.

Net asset value on June 30 was $28.77 a share on 2,003,377 shares outstanding, compared with $28.58 each on 2,018,436 shares three months earlier and $27.46 each on 2,075,780 shares a year earlier.

Robert Lehman, president of the company, said in a letter accompanying the report that the corporation purchased 15,059 shares of its capital stock in the three months ended with June. The purchases were made for retirement purposes and at an average price of $20.49 a share, Lehman said.

Income Is Increased.

Net ordinary income for the fiscal year was $2,512,823, compared with $2,155,993 in the preceding year. Not included in the figures for either year were net realized losses on investments, which were $812,110 in the year just ended, compared with $1,279,293 in the preceding year.

The report showed that 72.5 per cent of the corporation's gross assets were invested in common stocks at the end of last month. Cash, receivables and United States government obligations comprised 15.1 per cent, other bonds about 5.6 per cent, and preferred stocks nearly 6½ per cent.

Holdings showed little change in the proportionate amount invested in the major categories of assets, compared with three months earlier.

Changes in Holdings.

To its common stock holdings the company added, among others, 1,000 shares of Goodyear Tire and Rubber, 4,500 shares of National City Bank of New York, 2,500 shares of American Radiator and Standard Sanitary, 1,700 shares of Climax Molybdenum, and shares of several oil companies and two railroads—the Pennsylvania and the Union Pacific.

The preferred holdings were reduced by sale of 3,500 shares of $5 preferred and 1,700 shares of $6 preferred of American Power and Light, and elimination of 2,060 shares of Chicago Great Western 5 per cent preferred.

Decreases were made in holdings of United Aircraft, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Commonwealth Edison, and Pullman common stocks. The company sold out 2,000 American Telephone and Telegraph shares.

Holdings of United States government obligations in the bond portfolio were raised to $1,500,000 on June 30, from $800,000 three months earlier.

A Man's World, but Women Get Bigger Stake in Wall St.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 6.—Wall street, once the undisputed province of masculine wizards of finance, is acquiring increasingly apparent feminine touches produced by the heavy casualties in the male population in recent years, both from death and taxes, and plain business reverses. Women are furnishing more and more capital to run the securities business, and taking a firmer hand in the handling of their money.

No official statistician has marked up any yardstick to indicate the full extent of female participation in the stock brokerage business, but an authoritative survey recently put the figure at not lower than $1,000,000, and estimated that it probably reaches $2,000,000.

Stakes $5,000 to $50,000.

Individual women's stakes in various brokerage houses run from $5,000 to $50,000, this study indicated. In some of the smaller firms these stakes are important. A member of the New York Stock exchange must have a minimum capital of $50,000 if he carries accounts.

Of almost 600 stock exchange member firms about 80 have women partners who have provided capital, a circumstance unheard of 10 or 15 years ago. The feminine capital has trickled in during the last five years, since the New Deal depression.

Some have put their money into "the street" as an independent investment, but most of the women have crashed the masculine financial sector thru family connections.

Fifteen widows are carrying on a financial interest in firms which their husbands helped build up. The death toll among stock exchange members has been so heavy in recent years that the "widow's mite" of the member firms has become a weighty one.

Also in the growing ranks of Wall street women capitalists are at least 33 wives, 2 daughters, 7 mothers, 1 mother-in-law, 2 sisters-in-law and 1 aunt.

Death Rate Explains Trend.

A study of the death rate on the exchange explains the entry of women into the business. In 1940, 20 members of the exchange died; in 1939, 16; in 1938, 14; in 1937, 17; and in 1926, 19. This is in sharp contrast to the 10 who died in 1928, when everything was rosy.

Only a few of the women are general partners with full participation and liability. Most of them are special or limited partners, which means that their liability is limited. They draw interest on their investments and in good times stand to earn much money thru special arrangements.

The same feminine trend is apparent in securities firms without stock exchange representation, particularly in the over the counter houses.

Fewer Salaried Women.

While women are beginning to hold the purse strings, they are playing a smaller rôle in the mechanics of the street. During the boom years there were many women employés whose firms paid them as much as $50,000 a year, either handling accounts or as bond and stock sales women. Their ranks have been depleted in recent years.

One of the pioneer Wall street women, Florence W. Stevens, who formed the firm of F. W. Stevens & Co., is doing business at the old stand. She is still an optimist who believes that women some day will become members of the stock exchange.

Masonite Corp. Builds Hospital for Employes

The Masonite corporation, manufacturer of pressed wood and insulation products with offices in Chicago, announced yesterday that it has completed a hospital building at Laurel, Miss., to house its clinic for plant employés and their dependents. The building, erected and equipped at a cost of nearly $60,000, provides an additional medical center for the community, since staff physicians are allowed use of its facilities in their private practices.

England Sets Canadian Tobacco Import Figure

OTTAWA, July 6 [Canadian Press].—The department of trade and commerce announces that United Kingdom authorities had agreed to import 8 million pounds of Canadian tobacco in the next 12 months, provided the necessary shipping space is available. This would be the same amount as that taken from the 1939-'40 crop.

INDUSTRY MEETS SCHEDULE FOR ARMS CONTRACTS

Report Some Lines Ahead on Orders.

New York, July 6 (AP).—The National Association of Manufacturers said today after a survey of 16 major armament producing areas that industry was "on schedule or ahead" of governmental requirements.

The organization said $51,575,000,000 was the extent of United States commitments to date for preparedness, that $40,869,000,000 of the amount would come from general funds, $7,000,000,000 from the lease-lend act, and $3,706,000,000 was in the form of British orders.

Orders 19 Billion on May 31.

Contracts let as of May 31 totaled $18,698,000,000, or 54 per cent of potential contracts authorized, and 33 per cent of contracts let were completed by that date.

Only 29 per cent of several hundred arms producing manufacturers complained of machine tool shortage in May, whereas the figure was 63 per cent in January.

Altho 32 per cent reported being pressed for advanced deliveries by the government in February, 27 per cent was the comparable figure in May and 81 per cent indicated they expected to deliver on time.

Shortages Main Obstacle.

An average of 80 per cent said material shortages constituted a major obstacle. Government inspection technique was named as an objection by 70 per cent in April, but only 41 per cent named that factor in May.

An increased need for skilled workmen was indicated.

New Zealand Trade Rules Tightened to Aid Shipping

Wellington, New Zealand, July 6.—The government today announced that licenses are needed for sending to Britain goods intended for transshipment there. This action resulted from the need of strict control of all shipping space.

Stock Exchange Member Loans Top 416 Millions

New York, July 6 [Special.]—The New York Stock exchange reports that the total of money borrowed by member firms from banks, trust companies, and other leaders in the United States, excluding borrowings from other members of national securities exchanges, amounted to $416,194,020 at the close of business June 30.

FORM OPM UNIT TO FORCE RULE OF PRIORITIES

Plans Court Action if Necessary.

Washington, D. C., July 6 (AP).—Creation of a priorities compliance section in the Office of Production Management, to enforce coöperation by industry with the priorities program and penalize violators by court action if necessary, was announced today by Priorities Director E. R. Stettinius Jr.

Laurence J. Martin.

Instances of hoarding of strategic metals or bootlegging materials under priorities control will be policed by Laurence J. Martin, former assistant to the president of the Thomas A. Edison Industries, is now head of the inventory control section of OPM and will retain that post.

Seek Voluntary Coöperation.

The compliance unit will put emphasis on obtaining voluntary coöperation, Stettinius said, but "punitive action can and will be taken if necessary." Three punitive measures are available, Stettinius said. They are:

First, publicity directed at recalcitrant manufacturers by public statements on violations and evasions; second, the withholding of essential raw materials until compliance is guaranteed, and third, legal action.

The second method, a priorities division spokesman said, probably would bring quick compliance in most cases. If court action proved necessary, it probably would take the form of seeking a court order requiring compliance, followed by contempt of court proceedings if defiance persisted.

Gets Investigating Force.

Martin will be equipped with an investigating force as the need develops. He will work at the start thru the priorities field service offices now operating in about a dozen industrial centers and contemplated for establishment in a total of 25 or 30 cities.

Stettinius said the punitive preparations would be ready for use to prevent the "unfair activities" of a few violators from penalizing "the great majority of producers who cooperate willingly and freely."

The Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply also took steps during the day to maintain adequate transportation facilities for the nation. In one order, it issued an allocation program giving preferential status on materials used in construction of cars and buses for urban and interurban lines. In another, it gave preference to materials needed in locomotive construction.

Cuba Reported Preparing to Ask 25 Million U. S. Loan

HAVANA, July 6.—Authorized sources said today that President Fulgencio Batista would call congress into extraordinary session, probably this week, to approve a law authorizing the government to contract for a $25,000,000 loan from the Export-Import bank of Washington.

Ford's Plane Engine Nearly Ready for Test

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., July 6.—The new aviation engine on which the Ford Motor company has been working for more than a year—an engine designed to operate at the same efficiency at 32,000 feet altitude as at ground level—will be ready for testing about the middle of the month, Ford officials disclosed today.

The engine is an in-line liquid cooled V-12 upright engine from which Ford seeks 1,800 to 2,000 horse power at 3,600 revolutions a minute. Tests have been under way for many months on two cylinders of the engine.

Test with Two Cylinders.

Ford engineers explained that the tests were made with two cylinders for purposes of economy, but now a complete engine is almost ready for testing.

This new machine is a product of Ford's own engineering department. It is being built at the company's own expense.

Among the noteworthy features are:

1. A supercharger which is driven by an exhaust turbine, with no mechanical connection between the engine and the supercharger. The faster the exhaust travels thru the exhaust pipe the faster the turbine supercharger works.

Injects Solid Fuel.

2. A system which provides solid injection of fuel into the combustion chamber instead of the conventional carburetor system.

3. Use of a specially designed intercooler which cools air before passing it to the combustion chamber.

Ford engineers say that a perfect aerodynamic condition has been achieved because of the fact that the air intake to the supercharger and the exhaust from the turbine are in the direction of flight so there is no drag from the intake and there is a distinct propulsion effect from the exhaust.

INDUSTRY WAGE ORDERS LIFT PAY OF ABOUT 800,000

Washington, D. C., July 6 [Special].—About 800,000 workers in low industries have received pay increases thru industry wage orders, Philip B. Fleming, administrator of the wage and hour division of the labor department, announced today.

The largest groups raised by wage orders are 300,000 textile workers, 190,000 garment workers, 65,000 railroad workers, and 60,000 shoe workers.

VIEW CORK SHORTAGE AS A SERIOUS THREAT TO PARCHED PATRIOTS

Washington, D. C., July 6 (AP).—The commerce department called attention today to a real bottleneck of potential concern to millions of parched patriots.

The dry facts are, the department said in a report on the alcoholic beverage situation, that "rationing of limited supplies of cork has introduced a new factor in beverage distribution," particularly since "no suitable substitute for cork for bottle caps and stoppers is at present in production."

The department added, however, that the possible use of a composition of rubber [also a strategic imported material, but relatively more abundant than cork] or of developing a cork source in Brazil was under consideration.

STEEL PAY RISE EXCEEDS BY FAR GAIN IN PRICES

Cleveland, O., July 6 (AP).—The price of finished steel has advanced only 1.8 per cent since August, 1939, but average hourly wages in the industry have gone up 15.7 per cent, the magazine Steel reported today.

"Wide inequalities have resulted from the New Deal's price control policies," the review said. "In general, wages and agricultural products have advanced sharply, under the protection and encouragement of the government. Major basic manufactured material, such as steel and metals generally, have shown only slight increase.

"Last major steel wage increase, effective April 1 this year, was followed almost immediately by a price 'freezing' order on all steel products by Leon Henderson, administrator of the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply. The wage increase is estimated to have increased steel making costs $2.50 to $5 a ton."

GISHOLT MACHINE SHOWS DECREASE IN NET EARNINGS

The Gisholt Machine company, machine tool maker at Madison, Wis., reported yesterday that net earnings for the 24 weeks ended June 14, were approximately $700,000, equal to $2.62 a share of common stock, after provision for federal income and excess profits taxes at rates proposed in the pending revenue bill. The company reported a net income of $968,303, equal to $3.63 per share, for 1940.

Directors have declared a dividend of 25 cents per share payable July 15 to stockholders of record July 7. A similar payment was made in April.

Analysts Look at Future and Scratch Heads

New York, July 6 (AP).—This will be the most difficult autumn and winter to plan for in the history of American business, most analysts agreed today.

Enormous numbers of complicated and delicate decisions must be made now to keep the machinery of industry rolling at peak level in the next six or eight months when the arms drive will be approaching its peak and pay envelopes will be bulging with the greatest consumer spending power on record.

Even the measuring instruments which business men use as the basis for forecasting—industrial activity indices, security and commodity price averages—have been set askew by the swift paced changeover of the nation's economy from a peacetime to a war dominated basis.

Shifts Bring Complications.

Measurement is complicated by the shift of activity to new lines, such as aircraft and shipbuilding, which are reflected in the common indices like that of the Federal Reserve board or the Associated Press only indirectly thru their influence on steel production, freight movement, and electric power output.

A common guess among statisticians here is that the Federal Reserve board index of industrial activity, now about 153, will rise to about 160, or about 4½ per cent, by the year end. [For the Associated Press index, the corresponding rise would be from the present record high of 140.2 to a new top of about 147.]

In making guesses of this sort, planners say, the number of "ifs" is staggering. These are typical:

One economist thinks there has been a great rush of advance buying by the average citizen, because he believes he may not be able to buy the things he needs later or would be able to get them only after delays and at a higher price.

Expects a Letdown.

Therefore, this expert says, there may be a considerable letdown in general activity later because the average man's needs for many common articles, such as automobiles, vacuum cleaners, washing machines, and the like, already have been met.

Others, however, who have observed the same phenomenal sales figures cropping up in consumer items, think it is best explained simply by growing pay rolls and consequent better family incomes.

They theorize that the average man with a job and a family has a more or less stable rock bottom minimum of expense and that when higher wages or a longer working week add to his income his spending power "slops over" into things like a new car, a washing machine for the missus, and entertainment for the week-end. That, these analysts say, is what is going on now and they expect it to continue as employment and pay rolls grow.

Another of the "ifs" in business calculations is the proposed sharp curtailment of automobile output as rearmament needs soak up skilled labor and materials.

I. S. Berlin Printing Gets Big Stamp Album Contract

A contract for the production of 20 million pocket sized albums for national defense savings stamps has been awarded to the I. S. Berlin Printing and Lithographing company, 426 South Clinton street. Twenty carloads of special lithographing paper and three tons of fine steel wire will be used to fill the order.

SIGN TWO YEAR PACT, END LONG COAL DISPUTE

Lifts Pay of 150,000 Southern Miners.

Washington, D. C., July 6 (AP).—A two year contract boosting wages of 150,000 soft coal miners was signed today by the CIO's United Mine Workers and southern coal operators after four months' negotiations.

Announcing the agreement, John L. Lewis, UMW president, said "the stoppage of work that was scheduled [for Tuesday] will not take place." He had ordered the miners, now on a vacation ending Tuesday, not to go back to work unless a contract was signed.

The contract covers mines in southern West Virginia, Virginia, eastern Kentucky, and Tennessee whose operators walked out of the joint Appalachian wage conference in New York in April, refusing to agree to elimination of a 40 cents a day wage differential between southern and northern mines.

Differential Is Dropped.

That differential, however, was dropped in the contract signed today. In all major details—including provision for a $7 basic daily wage—the agreement conforms with that signed by northern operators. The $7 basic wage represents an increase of $1.40 a day for the southern miners who, prior to last April, received $5.60 a day compared with $6 in the north.

Since reopening of the mines in May after an April shutdown, southern miners have received $6.60 a day. Under the new contract, which is retroactive to April 1, they will receive an extra 40 cents for each day they have worked from April 1 up to now.

Rejects "One Big Union."

New York, July 6 [Special].—The proposal of Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime union [CIO], that all seamen on the east and west coasts and the Gulf of Mexico unite under the banner of the NMU was flatly rejected today by John Hawk, secretary-treasurer of the Atlantic and gulf district of the Seafarers International union [AFL].

Hawk said most members of his organization and of its west coast affiliate, the Sailors Union of the Pacific, favored the idea of "one big union," but that they wanted no part of "a union controled by the communist party."

PANAMA CANAL TRAFFIC SETS LOW SINCE 1933

BALBOA, Canal Zone, June 6.—The volume of traffic thru the Panama canal during the fiscal year ended on June 30 was the lowest since 1933, and tolls were at the lowest mark in 18 years, according to official figures released here today.

There were 4,727 transits of ocean going vessels in the year. Toll collections totaled $18,190,379.

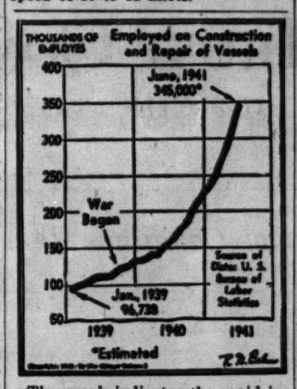
New Expansion of Nation's Big Shipbuilding Program Asked

Washington, D. C., July 6 (AP).—Early expansion of the nation's already vast shipbuilding program has been recommended by the maritime commission, it was learned today. Informed sources said the commission submitted to President Roosevelt some time ago plans for eglarging the 705 ship program, and that he was expected to give his approval soon.

Pending Presidential action, no details will be disclosed by the commission. It was understood, however, that the program called for something like a $500,000,000 appropriation for 300 ships.

The "ugly duckling" cargo ship, a slow, architecturally unattractive vessel but one which lends itself to mass production, likely will furnish the backbone of the new program.

Contracts already have been awarded for the construction of 312 of these freighters, of which 112 are scheduled for delivery to Great Britain under the lend-lease act. They are of 10,500 deadweight tons, with a speed of 10 to 11 knots.



The graph indicates the rapid increase in shipyard workers.

EXECUTIVE OF OPACS DECLARES FURNITURE PRICE RISE MUST END

An executive of the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, Peter A. Stone, cautioned 400 furniture manufacturers yesterday that unless price increases are halted "we must step in and take action that you don't like and that we don't like."

"The way to stop price rises is to stop increasing prices," he said, "and since it is you who are pricing the goods, the burden of stopping such increases rests on your shoulders."

Some manufacturers contended in an open forum that they were basing projected price increases not only on already rising costs of materials but also on potential increases in labor costs and on higher priced substitutes which they may have to use because of shortages. Stone maintained that as production was stepped up to capacity, overhead costs would drop, cancelling much of the increase in labor costs.

The manufacturers were here for today's opening of the two summer furniture shows.

RESERVE BOARD TELLS OF FIGHT ON INFLATION

Washington, D. C., July 6 [Special].—The growth of excess bank reserves and the efforts of the federal reserve board to counteract this and other potential sources of inflation by open market operations were discussed today in the annual report of the governor for the calendar year 1940.

By the end of the year the reserve system had sold $300,000,000 of government obligations from its portforlio, bringing total holdings of such securities at the reserve bank to the lowest level since September, 1933. This was described as a stabilizing factor on the market while tending to decrease excess bank reserves.

The board reported that it gave consideration "to the best means of preventing undesirable credit expansion,' but it did not contend that its open market operations accomplished much aside from exerting a steadying influence on the market.

loans for business use in the Chicago area has become the heaviest since early in 1932.

Like the larger banks, most of the smaller institutions had more deposits and cash resources on June 30, the date of the latest call, than on April 4. The total of deposits for all Chicago banks was the largest on record.

Chicago City Bank and Trust company's loans and discounts had risen to $10,803,000 on June 30, from $10,007,000 three months earlier. Total deposits were up to $31,921,000 from $29,569,000.

Merchandise National Gains.

Merchandise National's loans and discounts increased to $10,544,000, from $9,409,000, and deposits expanded to $29,734,000 from $26,181,000.

Loans and discounts of Industrial National bank were higher than in April at $11,873,000 against $11,561,000, and deposits rose to $8,672,000 from $8,435,000.

La Salle National bank reported loans and discounts of $3,632,000, compared with $2,953,000 three months earlier. Its deposits rose also, amounting to $10,406,000 on June 30, compared with $9,366,000 on April 4.

Halsted Exchange National bank's loans and deposits both showed increases. Loans were $2,479,000 against $2,364,000, and deposits $10,410,000 against $8,432,000.

Drovers National increased its loans and discounts to $5,565,000 from $4,968,000, and its deposits were $36,199,000, compared with $33,812,000. Drovers Trust and Savings reported an increase in loans and discounts, but its deposits decreased.

Deposits are Withdrawn.

First National Bank of Englewood, which recently asked its large customers to withdraw their deposits, reported $770,000 of deposits on June 30, against $4,373,000 reported for April 4. Its loans and discounts declined to $247,000, from $294,000.

Increases in loans, discounts, and deposits were reported by Central National, Liberty National, Live Stock National, Mercantile National, Merchants National, Mid-City National, South East National, Terminal National, Sears Community State bank, and others. Amalgamated Trust and Savings bank showed an increase in loans but a decrease in deposits.

BORAX AND BORIC ACID CONTROL PLAN EXTENDED

Because of the fourth-month old CIO strike at the American Potash and Chemical company, Trona, Cal., the government has extended for 25 days its regulation of the supply of borax and boric acid going into civilian channels. The plant is one of two large United States producers of borax and boric acid which are essential to armaments.

In its original order of June 6 placing the items under full priority control, the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply said that the strike had left borax production barely sufficient for armament demands.

The new order set an expiration date of July 30 on the civilian allocation program.

METAL & THERMIT.

In examining a list of dividend paying stocks, I noticed that Metal & Thermit corporation has an unbroken dividend record for 40 years. I would like to know the business of the company, something about its earnings, and where its stock is listed.—C. G.

Answer: Metal & Thermit corporation, New York, operates five plants, three of which are primarily detinning factories at which metallic tin, tin salts, and heavy metal scrap are recovered from tin plate scrap. The company also makes tin and antimony chemicals used in the ceramic industry, other metals and alloys, and electrodes used in its Thermit welding process, a chemical method developed originally in Germany.

The company only recently started to publish its income statements. Net income in 1940 was $908,700, equal after preferred dividends to $2.29 a common share. This compared with $795,795 or $2 a common share in 1939.

Capitalization consists of 4,665 shares of 7 per cent preferred stock of $100 par value, and 381,964 shares of no par common stock, the latter representing a four for one split last December. The shares are not listed on any exchange. At the end of 1940 there were 110 preferred stockholders and 640 common stockholders.

Common stockholders of the company have received dividends every year since 1911. Regular quarterly payments to the preferred holders have been disbursed since 1908. Common dividends amounted to $9 a share in 1940 compared with $7 in 1939, $4.50 in 1938, $9 in 1937, and $8.50 in 1936. Payments ranged as high as $14 a share in 1912 and as low as $2 in 1922. On the new common following the split, a 30 cents dividend was paid March 10 this year and another 50 cents, June 10.

BLACK & DECKER.

I would like to have a description of the business of Black & Decker, whose stock is listed on the New York board.—A. G.

Answer: Black & Decker Manufacturing company makes portable electric tools and small electric motors. The tools are used in automobile manufacturing and repairing, in construction work, and in other manufacturing operations. The motors are installed by the company in its own products or are sold to makers of various kinds of machinery.

LIQUOR BUYING REPORTED EXTRA HEAVY IN MAY

Abnormally large purchases of alcoholic beverages were made during May from manufacturers and wholesalers as all branches of the trade prepared for a consumer buying wave such as preceded the federal tax increase last year, the department of commerce reported yesterday.

During April, wholesale gains over April, 1940, were 14 per cent for spirits and beer and 27 per cent for wines, the report said. The 11,900,000 tax gallons of whisky produced during April exceeded tax paid withdrawals by 5,800,000 gallons, to bring total whisky stocks in internal revenue bonded warehouses on May 1 above 500 million gallons, an all time record.

GERMAN STOCKS RUN UP; WARN OF RESTRICTIONS

BERLIN, July 6.—Technical factors, especially the narrowness of the market rather than reports of victories on the eastern front, were held responsible for the continued advance of German stock prices last week. Individual shares gained as much as 18 points.

It was indicated that if the market continues to disregard the economics minister's warning on "unhealthy overvaluation of stocks" the government may be forced to adopt new restrictive measures.

The Reichsbank's note circulation rose 1,042,000 marks to a new wartime high record of 15,565,000,000 marks in the last week of June.

Report Interstate Compact on Oil Will Be Extended

Trade interests report that the interstate oil company, under which major oil producing states regulate production, would be extended for two years from its expiration date, Sept. 21. The reports said the governors of nine states had agreed to the extension and would send to President Roosevent a proposal for submission to congress.

SMALLER FIRMS FEELING PINCH OF ARMS PRIORITIES

OPM Encourages More Sublet Contracts.

BY THORNTON SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., July 6.—Scarcity of raw materials, due to priorities and diversion by government order, is restricting operations in Milwaukee's smaller industries which employ many thousand men and fabricate products valued at millions. This condition is expected to get worse before it gets better, manufacturers say. It is considered the first sign of killing off small business predicted by Peter R. Nehemkis Jr., spokesman for OPM.

Work on armament production, either on direct orders or subcontracts from larger firms, is looked for as a means of compensating smaller factories for their inability to continue their private work.

Subcontracts Encouraged.

Francis J. Trecker, chief of subcontracts for the Office of Production Management, has been in Milwaukee in conference with Mayor Carl Zeidler and business men, explaining that one of the chief functions of the branch office of OPM's contract service to be opened here will be to see that all of the big industries spread the load of defense work among smaller factories.

Substitutions of material is enabling some of the concerns to keep going at full speed. Others face diminishing production.

The Fulton company, which makes automobile accessories, has been hit by a shortage of nickel and special alloy steels. It has cut its normal production 20 per cent, but is operating on arms orders and has not had to lay off any men.

The Cherry-Burrell corporation, which manufactures dairy equipment, is hoping dairy equipment will be put on the priority list as it was in the World war. At present it is searching for substitutes for stainless steel tubing. Authorities said it may have to substitute brass for nickel alloys and copper and tin coated brass tubing for stainless steel. Production has not yet been reduced.

Steel Replaces Aluminum.

The Huebsch Manufacturing company, makers of laundry machinery, is substituting steel for aluminum. It has had its manufacturing problems multiplied by fear of shortages and slow delivery but is getting along.

Aluminum shortage is felt in many Milwaukee shops. The Automatic Products company, which makes air conditioning equipment, plans to use plated steel and silver finished tin plate if and when necessary. The Blackhawk company is using malleable iron in place of aluminum for hand tools, hydraulic jacks, and bending machines.

The Pioneer Manufacturing company, producers of farm equipment, is looking for a substitute for aluminum and is investigating plated gray iron castings. The company has had difficulty in getting steel tubing and hexagon shaped steel used in milking machines.

The Geuder, Paeschke & Frey Co., which rates among the larger factories here, reports a 22 per cent cut in items containing zinc. The company manufactures milk cans, kitchen equipment, tin, sheet iron, and enamel ware. Sheet steel deliveries were reported four to eight months late and the company has suffered delay in steel even for the production of milk cans for government cantonments.

Forced to Reject Orders.

The Steel Stamp corporation has not replaced employés taken by the draft and has turned down orders for $35,000 of shovels, rakes, hoes, and stamp fasteners for beer barrels, it is reported. Its inventory of raw materials is diminishing and layoffs will be necessary if material cannot be had.

The Western Metal Specialty company has been unable to get galvanized sheet steel and has cut working hours from 50 to 45 a week. Officers report steel casings for furnaces and air conditioning equipment are postponed.

The Milwaukee Metal Spinning company is turning to brass or copper for goods formerly made of aluminum but reports that armament orders more than make up for the forced slowup of private work.

Similar conditions exist in other industrial Wisconsin cities.

Relief Is Promised.

Trecker said the opening of a branch OPM office here will ease the work of manufacturers seeking armament contracts. It will have a full time, paid engineer who will keep in touch with all shops in this area and provide information about contracts, financing, and priorities.

On the bright side in the Milwaukee picture is a boom in the shipment of beer and grain that caused railroad tonnage to jump 30 per cent in June over June a year ago. Since June 20, Milwaukee railroads have been shipping from 100 to 138 carloads of beer a day.

E. A. Lalk, Milwaukee road chairman of the traffic committee of the railroads here, said the shipment of barley and rye is heavier than any time in five years.

The demand for ships to carry ore to the steel mills has resulted in more all-rail shipment of grain.

Brown Brothers Harriman Assets and Loans Increase

Brown Brothers Harriman & Co., private bankers, yesterday reported total assets on June 30 of $150,537,304, compared with $148,053,927 on March 31 and $135,953,978 at the end of June, 1940. Deposits also increased, totaling $127,082,581 at the close of last month, against $124,388,489 in March and $112,416,710 a year ago. Loans and advances showed a gain at $32,863,124, $26,174,148 and $25,115,926 for the respective periods.

People and Events

Establishment of a clearing house for sifting inter-American trade complaints was announced yesterday by the Inter-American Commercial Arbitration commission, of which Thomas J. Watson, president of International Business Machines corporation, is chairman. Complaints, after sifting, will be forwarded to government and private dispute settlement agencies for swift adjustment. The commission maintains hemisphere-wide facilities for settling commercial controversies between North and Latin American business men, and, it says, has now extended its work thru the newly created agency.

Thomas J. Watson.

Cyrus McCormick, New Mexico Republican national committeeman, announced he had accepted a position with the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply at Washington under Leon Henderson. McCormick came to New Mexico after retiring as vice president in charge of manufacturing for the International Harvester company.

The Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation yesterday announced appointment of James Macbeth Jr. as manager of pig iron sales and B. E. Stewart as manager of by-product sales. They succeed the late M. W. St. John.

STERLING BANK TO PAY.

State Auditor Arthur C. Lueder announces that he has authorized payment of a 6 per cent dividend amounting to $47,741 to approximately 3,000 depositors of the First Trust and Savings bank of Sterling, Ill. The dividend is the 9th paid since the bank closed and brings the total to 98½ per cent.

ORGANIZE FARM DEFENSE BOARDS IN EACH STATE

Washington, D. C., July 6 (AP).—Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard announced today the creation of farm defense boards in each state and every agricultural county to help administer programs designed to adjust crop supply to the special needs of the national emergency.

The boards will be composed of representatives of agencies of the agriculture department, including the Agricultural Adjustment administration, the bureau of agricultural economics, the Farm Security administration, the Soil Conservation service, the Farm Credit administration, the Surplus Marketing administration, the Agricultural Marketing service, the forest service, the Rural Electrification administration, and the Federal-State Coöperative Extension service.

FARMERS' RALLY TO PROTEST AAA CURB ON WHEAT

Decatur, Ill., July 6 [Special].—A massmeeting to protest AAA wheat quota restrictions will be held in the Circuit courtroom here tomorrow night. Lynn McClure, who operates a farm six miles southwest of Cerro Gordo, called the meeting.

All wheat growers subject to quota penalties are invited, and McClure said 400 are expected. Protests are based on the government's establishment of quotas after the crop had been sown and on eligibility rules established for voting in the quota referendum.

More than 1,000 farmers have enrolled in the Independent Grain Growers of Montgomery County to seek an injunction to prohibit the government from putting quota penalties into effect.
